

DIVORCE ACTION FOLLOWS LOVE NEST RAID

Boy, 9, Bags Buck As Father Misses Mark

COLUMBIA, Aug. 27. — Preston Thompson, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thompson of Venado, has the honor and distinction of being the youngest nimbler in this section to provide venison for the family table.

A few days ago young Thompson and his father were hunting in the vicinity of Whiskey Hill in the Cortina district and up jumped a buck. The elder Thompson by virtue of authority and family position blazed away twice with his rifle and missed the fleeing buck. Preston, undaunted by the failure of his sire, raised his trusty 30-30, pulled the trigger once and the buck's days were over.

tory offense, and Mrs. Jewell was eventually released.

Kratz was arraigned and obtained an adjournment. Mrs. Jewell, wearing a large picture hat, was in the courtroom, and was presented with a subpoena requiring her to appear as a witness at the adjourned hearing before Judge Jacks.

Charges Denied
Kratz categorically denied all charges. Later he discussed the affair with newspaper men.

"My wife wanted to get a divorce a year ago," he said, "but for the sake of the children, we decided not to go through with it. Frankly, we were not happily married, and have been separated for about two months."

"Mrs. Jewell?—ah, she's a wonderful woman. She and I were engaged to be married eighteen years ago, but the thing didn't just work out. She was ill last night, and I was up at her apartment for several hours when this mixup happened. But the story is grossly exaggerated."

Mrs. Jewell refused to make any statement until she had conferred with her attorney.

Leaves Town
"Would you want your sister to say anything under the circumstances?" was all she told questions. She is said to have left town after the police court hearing.

Mrs. Kratz filed her divorce action, through Attorney James Sweeney. Aside from mentioning the occurrences in the O'Farrell street place, she said Kratz had called her vile and opprobrious names and had threatened her with bodily harm if she started divorce action. She has obtained a restraining order barring him from disposing of his business.

Mrs. Jewell is said to have come to San Francisco a year ago. The Kratzes have been here for about five years. They were married May 20, 1915, in Kalama, Wash.

Eventually there came into sight Kratz and Mrs. Jewell, and into the apartment they went. For a long time the watchers waited. At midnight the apartment lights went out.

Mrs. Kratz and the detective knocked and requested Kratz to welcome them. Silence was their reward; so the police were called, and, with the assistance of Mrs. Mary Stillman, landlady of the apartment house, they induced Kratz to admit them all.

Kratz and Mrs. Jewell were taken to the police station, where the former was charged with a statu-

SAILORS FIGHT ISLANDERS IN SHIP THEFT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—A tale of a battle royal in the ice of the Tonga islands last Decoration day, when a crew of Americans fought a "kesuk" of natives led by a British beachcomber, who had "chain-jumped" their vessel, was told along the water front when the four masted schooner Lottie Bennett reached port after an eighty-one day trip under command of Captain Neils Nelson.

The Tonga islands are one of the world's romance spots. Tucked far down in the South seas, they form a casual stopping place for traders and cargo boats.

Copra carriers ride in with the tides, gorge on coconut fibre and glide out with the yellow dawn. There are three white men there—an American, a Britisher and a German. The rest are natives. The only excitement is the swift tropical storms that drop without warning.

Men Ordered Ashore
The Lottie Bennett chose the Tonga group for a copra cargo. Safely anchored offshore, Captain Nelson watched his lowering glass and predicted a storm. He ordered all hands ashore, and followed himself.

Within the space of an hour, torrents of rain crashed through the coconut groves and came smashing down on the thatched-roofed houses of the natives, and the wind whipped the water into a sem-blance of a typhoon.

When the downpour had ceased, the crew tacked back to the Lottie Bennett. To their surprise they found an English man named Ramsay in charge with a horde of natives. Ramsay was a lean, spare person with a fighting eye.

Claims Ship Abandoned
The natives were both tough and husky. To Nelson's queries as to what it all meant, Ramsay invoked his own interpretation of laws maritime, and informed the captain that he had found an abandoned ship and had taken possession.

There are no white man's courts in Tonga and the police are not recognized as such. So Jensen, being an old-timer in the business, and an American to boot, handled matters by direct action.

Three seconds after getting the facts, the air was filled with natives in the process of being hurled overboard by an equally husky American crew.

Watched By Simians
While chattering monkeys hung by their tails and twittering parakeets looked on, the Lottie Bennett was cleared of the invaders.

Ramsay was sent ashore in irons, turned loose on the beach and told a few things about the inadvisability of tackling an American ship on Decoration day.

He was also reminded that his story repeats itself. After which, the crew of the Lottie Bennett finished loading copra, pulled up its mudhooks and sailed away into the yellow haze of the tropical sea, well content with itself.

WHEAT CROP FORECAST.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 25.—A wheat crop of 382,514,000 bushels is forecasted in a report issued by the dominion bureau of statistics.

The report is based upon the condition of crops at the end of July, and indicates that the prairie provinces will produce 357,295,000 bushels of wheat if weather conditions continue favorable. Manitoba, it is expected, will have a total wheat yield of 44,468,000 bushels; Saskatchewan, 211,051,000; Alberta, 101,776,000 bushels. Alberta is the only province to show an increased yield as compared with 1922.

HARVEST WORK POPULAR.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Aug. 25.—The eagerness with which Britishers are taking advantage of the opportunity to come to Canada to help garner Canada's bumper crop is shown by a dispatch from London, England, which states that it was necessary to employ a large number of police to quell the mad scramble of prospective harvesters to get aboard the last ship which left England. In view of the fact that a large number were unable to secure berths, another batch of harvesters will be sent to Canada on the next ship, which will arrive here in time to enable the Britishers to proceed West and help in the harvest.

"THE SNOW BRIDE" OPENS AT YOST TONIGHT

Alice Brady's latest picture, "The Snow Bride," which will be presented at the Yost theater tonight, is a story of Canada, but there isn't a mounted policeman in it. The story deals with the trading of the north and the love of a fur buyer's daughter for a young and intrepid sheriff. It affords Miss Brady an excellent opportunity for a new screen character.

One of the thrills in this picture is a mountain snow-slide, actually photographed, which buries most of the little Canadian village where most of the action of the story takes place.

Miss Brady is surrounded by an excellent cast, including "Lefty" Flynn, Mario Majeroni, Nick Thomson, Jack Baston, Stephen Gratton, W. M. Cavanaugh and Margaret Morgan.

CANTALOUPE PRICES FALL; STOCK POOR

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Cantaloupes now arriving are of poorer quality, causing a decline in prices on all grades. There was a good demand for Tokay and Muskat grapes, while a fair movement was reported on Seedless grapes. Black grapes are in small demand.

Receipts: Cars: Lemons 3, oranges 6, grapefruit 2, watermelons 4, peaches 5, cantaloupes 4, casabas 4, apples 2. Cantaloupes on track 6, broken 6.

Good Lima beans are selling from 7c to 8c per pound. Celery is in moderate demand at prices ranging from $5 to $5. Best corn was in good demand and selling up to $2 per sack. Tomatoes are firm and selling from $1.50 to $2 per lug, according to quality.

Receipts: Cars: Tomatoes 1, potatoes (Oregon) 1. Potatoes on track 5, broken 2.

There was not a great deal of activity in the poultry market this morning, as might be expected on Monday. However, colored hens are firm and dealers seem to expect higher prices on them. Any increase in the supply of young colored chickens will probably cause a decline in price. Receipts by express amounted to 14 coops and one car live poultry from Nebraska arrived Saturday.

CALIFORNIA LEADING IN STILL SEIZURES

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—The harvest of the federal prohibition agents yielded a bumper crop this year with the result that California now leads the nation in the number of stills seized. A harvest compilation made by the "revenooers" here today shows that out of 10,203 seized stills in the United States during the year, 3926 were gathered in this state.

Law Pertaining To

Deer Violated? No,
Big Buck Stuffed

City and county authorities here today found out for certain that the citizenry is "behind them" in the enforcement of certain laws, particularly game laws, when complaint was registered from various and many quarters that a car bearing a big buck was being driven about Santa Ana.

It worked out like this:
Roth Reynolds, Los Angeles taxidermist, having a certain head of a buck to deliver here, could not resist the temptation to have some "fun."

He attached the body of a stuffed deer to the stuffed head, placed the animal in his car, covered it and drove here to see how the "natives would react."

They did.

Friends Grieve For Girl Taken by Death

The many friends gained in this city by Miss Edith May Rush, fifteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rush, Oak street,
Los Angeles, upon her frequent visits to the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Collins, 1316 French street, were deeply grieved at her untimely death Wednesday, August 22 at a Los Angeles hospital.

The young girl was taken to the hospital last Tuesday, suffering from appendicitis and an operation was performed Wednesday morning, but she never rallied and death came early in the afternoon.

Edith May had endeared herself to all who knew her. She frequently visited in this city with her young cousin, Lula May Collins, just her own age.

Mrs. Lyman A. Hill and Mrs. R. H.
Collins are sisters of Mrs. Rush and were in attendance at the funeral services held Saturday at 10 a. m. from the Oberholzer chapel with burial at Forest Lawn cemetery, Glendale. Six young men cousins of the young girl bore her body to the grave. These were Harold, Charles and Ernest Hill, Howard and Fred Collins and Edward Martin, recently wedded to one of Edith May's favorite cousins.

Brilliant and talented in every way, Edith May was a student at Sentous Junior High school, a pupil of Eagan's Dramatic school and a music pupil of Mrs. Newton Jameson of Los Angeles.

Police Arrest Nine,
Setting Recent Mark

Nine men were lodged in the county jail here today as result of arrests made by members of the Santa Ana police force yesterday.

"That's the biggest day we have had in a long time," declared Frank Intz, day desk sergeant at the police station, in the city hall.

Of the nine arrests, three Mexicans were listed on the blotter
as charged with manufacturing illicit liquor, three were registered as drunks, and three as "vags."

News Briefs

Neely's dry goods store in the Ramona building will soon throw open a roomy balcony now nearing completion. The added space will be devoted to the blanket, comfort, pillow and house dress departments. The demand for additional space at this new store is indicative of its progress.

The sixteenth septic tank to be installed in the agricultural sections of Orange county this year will be started Wednesday morning at the place of Lester Tubbs at Tustin and East Fourth streets.
W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, will direct operations.

Fully fifty and probably more pressmen, their families and guests were prepared today and all arrangements had been completed for the annual picnic of the Orange County Pressmen's union this evening at the county park. The "food committee," William Rochin, Ira Martin and Frank Rowe, had seen to it that the tables would be overflowing when the "dinner bell" rings at 6 o'- clock.

Ivan Kelso, attorney for the Automobile Club of Southern California, will discuss features of the new motor bills at the meeting of the Kiwanis club, at St. Ann's Inn, Wednesday noon, it was announced today by L. R. Crawford, secretary of the club. The committee in charge of the program is composed of D. N. Kelly, John Knox and Sheriff Sam Jernigan.

Workmen today began tearing out a portion of the east wall of the Rossmore cafe, on Spurgeon street, for the remodeling of the cafe.

The State Railroad commission has issued a permit to the Southern Pacific to build a spur track across North Brookhurst avenue, Fullerton.

J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, was prepared today to make reservations for members of the local chamber who want to accompany the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce expedition to Mexico. The excursion will leave early in September and arrive at Mexico City on the Mexican Independence day, when it is expected that the United States will have taken some action as to recognition of the republic.

DIVORCE TARIFF FROM POLITICS MEET FIXED

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 22.—A western tariff congress called for the purpose of taking the tariff out of partisan politics and securing the adoption of a permanent tariff policy suited to the needs of the West, has been called to meet here early in October, the exact date to be announced later.
The call is signed by practically all producing organizations, chambers of commerce, banking associations and other organizations representing all lines of agricultural, commercial and industrial activity in the West. Joining with the producers in issuing the call, are the governors of Western states, including Governor Sweet of Colorado. Other state officials are expected to join in the call within the next few days.

The movement is declared to be strictly non-partisan and, in addition to its primary purpose of taking the tariff out of partisan politics, will create a medium for the discussion of the tariff and other economic issues which affect the economic welfare of Western producers and will undertake to uphold the present tariff duties upon Western products.

Officials of the congress are former Governor E. M. Ammons of Colorado, chairman; Frank J.
Hagenbarth of Salt Lake City, chairman organization committee,
and J. A. Arnold of Fort Worth, Texas, manager.

Temporary headquarters of the congress are located in the Engineers' building here.

BRITISH YACHT NOBILITY HERE TOMORROW

Plans were going forward here today for the visit to Orange county harbor tomorrow of thirty-nine members of the Legion of Frontiersmen, including several members of the British nobility, together with ten members of the city government of Los Angeles.

Plans made this morning by George Peabody and others included a luncheon at a Santa Ana hotel Tuesday noon and a cruise of the harbor and coast, as far as Laguna, in the afternoon, in boats club.

Shirley E. Meserve, commodore of the club, will be master of ceremonies.

In the evening, the Britishers will be the guests of the club.
They will be taken back to Los Angeles in the cars of the Los Angeles officials.

The men are members of the yacht "Frontiersmen," which is carrying other on a round-the-world cruise for the purpose of mapping a proposed globe encircling air flight.

WOMAN SPENDS 100TH NATAL DAY SEWING

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—
They'll be nice to wrap the little folks in when the nights are cold.

Mrs. Georgiana Collett, 1726
Eleventh avenue, Oakland, folded a gay little patchwork quilt with steady fingers and smiled at its bright-colored squares with eyes that a century has dimmed only a trifle.

She settled back in her comfortable rocker and stitched away on another gay square, making tiny, faultless stitches as girls learned to sew many years ago.

Mrs. Collett was just 100 years old, but when it was suggested that she hold her patchwork while her picture was taken, she protested mildly.

"Why, that will make me look like an old lady, won't it?" she said.
The warm little patchwork quilts that Mrs. Collett sews so carefully are to go to orphan asylums, the Salvation Army and similar places where they can be comforting to small chilly people.

Born in England.
Born in England, Mrs. Collett came to New York about 1853. It was when Fillmore was President, and one of her first recollections of life in the new country was the excitement over the election of Pierce. She is still interested in current affairs, although she has seen many Presidents come and go.

Mrs. Collett came to San Francisco in 1865.

"Just a little town, it was," she said. "The miners used to come in with their gold dust and gamble all day Sunday—not much of a Sunday, in those days. Of course, the real gold rush was over, but there was plenty of excitement."

"And the vaqueros used to round up the cattle down where the Mission district is now—oh, there was plenty of excitement."

Mrs. Collett saw San Francisco grow up from those early days, saw it go down before the fire of 1906 and watched it rise once more. She has lived in Oakland since shortly after the fire, which destroyed all her treasured possessions.

Toward modern life and habits
Mrs. Collett has a pleasant tolerance. She doesn't really approve of the new notions, but she thinks that things aren't quite so bad as some people would make them out.

"The modern girl?" she said.
"Oh, well, I suppose she thinks she's all right, just as we used to think we were right nearly a century ago, and just as the girls of the next generation will think they are right."

Things Have Changed
"I can't say I care for some of the things the modern girl does, but maybe I'm prejudiced. Probably the old folks who were old when I was a girl used to disapprove of some of the things we did."

"Things have changed; that's all. Just because I don't like some of the new ways as much as I did the old ways isn't really a sign that the old ways were better."

Until a few months ago, when the garden grew so fast that it got a little ahead of her, Mrs. Collett used to work long hours among her flowers, weeding, watering and coaxing them into blossom. Her garden is full of old-fashioned posies.

Now she passes much of her time with the patchwork, contriving the gay quilts of many colors.
She reads, too, although she reluctantly admits that her sight isn't quite as good as it used to be,
and that small print tires her.
She is still active and busy and keenly interested in everything that happens.

DIVORCE IS SOUGHT

Mrs. Bessie Corbett's suit for divorce from William J. Corbett, of Fullerton, was on file today in the Superior court. In her complaint, Mrs. Corbett charged desertion, non-support and cruelty.
The couple were married at Fullerton July 24, 1918, and separated February 15, 1922. A child, aged 3, is with the mother.

RANKIN'S

Fourth and Sycamore

This Store is ALIVE!

We Admit of
No Dull Days

Just because there are some people who don't buy many things in certain seasons, we stir ourselves to make this store doubly interesting to those folks who do buy, and we never let a day slip past without doing some live thinking, some strong merchandising and deep profit paring.

To Make It Pay to Shop
Here Between Seasons!

Just because it is dog days we have extra opportunities to buy wanted goods for less money, and so, we keep things humming even though profits may not be large.

Baby
Blankets
$1.75

Really, that is a most attractive price for 36x50 baby blankets when you notice how good they are. And they are nicely bound with mercerized materials.

In fact, there are many good buys in baby things at this season on our third floor. Look around.

All Bathing Suits and Accessories, Reduced 1/4

These are articles we certainly do not like to store away. Maybe we can induce you to store them for us in your closet after you have had a couple of months' use. We are willing to stand a reduction of one-fourth to make it worth your while. You'll find staple models in both Jantzel elastic-knit suits, Bradley swimming suits and the Rubber Bathing Suits, as well as the fancy models. And there is a host of Caps and miscellaneous articles, belts, shoes, etc. This is the only time we will offer this opportunity.

A piece of Good News for NEEDLE WORKERS ONLY

But it should give a thrill of anticipation to every woman who is clever with her needle and who likes to have something interesting in her sewing bag or work basket for the quiet hours. There is a wide variety of Spring Package Goods, Royal Society and Bucilla packages, at a quarter under-price. Especially, things for children's school wear. Besides these, are stamped dresses of all kinds offered at half price. If you need her, Miss Sweet, will help you start work.

Play Suits
for $1.00

Nothing like a good play suit to keep mother's mind at rest about the kiddies' clothes. These dainty little suits are in blue and khaki and blue trimming, and are only $1.00 each.

"Kute Kuts"
None Sweeter

These were never made for boys
—they are entirely too cute and girly to be wasted on boys! Peg

The Last Week of Horton's August Furniture Sale

FRIDAY is the last day of August—and the last day of Horton's great August Furniture Sale. On that day we will close one of the most successful sales we have ever known of in Santa Ana—successful because of the ability of large numbers of home-makers to find what they needed from amongst the complete stocks of furniture and their invariable satisfaction over the values received. FOUR MORE DAYS REMAIN—devoted to hurrying last-minute shoppers!

RESIDENT HERE SINCE 1882 IS DEAD AT 74

Rupert Best, resident of Santa Ana for forty years, died today at the sanitarium at Anaheim, following a brief illness. He was 74 years of age. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a. m., at Winbigler's Mission Funeral home.

He is survived by four sons, Charles Newton, Percy L. Lewis, K. and Edgar Best, and two daughters, Mrs. C. T. Coulthard, China, and Mrs. J. W. Deardorff, Buena Park.

Born in Cornwallis, Kings county, Nova Scotia, October 23, 1848, Mr. Best moved to Halifax when he attained his majority. He served a number of years as a shoe clerk at Halifax, later going into business for himself. He continued the business until he came to Santa Ana in October, 1882. He purchased forty acres of land southwest of Santa Ana and farmed for eleven years. In 1893 he traded the ranch for property at 1150 Hickey street, where he resided at the time of his death. Mrs. Best died in this city February 8, 1918.

Mr. Best was organist for the local lodge of Macabees for twenty-five years, resigning that position in 1917. He served on juries frequently and was known as a man of fair mind and good judgment. A congenial man, he was loved by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

Wintersburg, Smeltzer

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, AUG. 27.—David Russell who is motoring through from Missouri where he recently went on a business trip has been held up en route by storms and mud and will not get in as soon as expected. Russell was at Gallup, N. M., the last heard. Had just made sixty-four miles that day and he with twenty other families, all bound for Los Angeles were then in camp awaiting such time as the roads were passable to continue their journey.

Russell is accompanied by a nephew, Roy Hurst of Independence, Mo., who is coming to California with the intention of entering college this winter. Camps all along the line are filled with people en route to California, Russell says.

A male quartette is being formed by Epworth Leaguers of the Wintersburg church to assist in League work. The members of the quartette are Harold Jones, Clayton Murdock, Jack Turner and David Russell.

A quiet marriage took place at high noon Saturday at the Methodist parsonage at Wintersburg, the Rev. J. Scott Willmarth performing the ceremony uniting Miss Edna Phillips, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips of this place and Virgil Albert Wattell of Los Angeles.

The bride was attired in a chic frock of beige crepe with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of Cecil Brunners. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Obar of Huntington Beach were the sole witnesses of the quiet ceremony following which the young couple left for Los Angeles where they were honor guests at a dinner given by the groom's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wattell are now located at Whittier where the groom is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Wells were Tuesday guests of the former's brother, Ray Wells and wife at their Tustin home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lewis came the latter part of the week from San Jacinto where they visited at the M. J. Taylor home. They were accompanied home by their niece, Helen Dimock, who had spent a few weeks with relatives.

The six foot brick wall which joins the underpinnings of the tentative addition of the Oceanview schoolhouse is being laid this week. The contractor is making splendid headway on the building and it now seems a certainty that the three class rooms may be used with the opening of the term, as the inside work is all completed and the blackboards up, leaving but the placing of desks and other furnishings only to be done. It is not thought the auditorium can be finished on time.

The Smeltzer beet dump is now running "wide open," the ranchers being allowed to haul an unlimited tonnage at present. From six to eight car loads are being shipped from this dump daily.

One car load per day of beets is going out from the Wintersburg dump this week, a slight increase over last week's output.

Francis Moore of Chandler, Arizona, a nephew of Mrs. H. J. Morgan is a visitor at her home. Morgan who is a junior in high school will return home in a few days to enter school.

A letter was received this week by Miss Lena Morgan from Miss Hazel Teel from Santa Paula. Mr. and Mrs. Teel and daughters and the baby boy are on a camping trip, having left here two weeks ago in the hope of benefiting Mrs. Teel's health which was impaired by the influenza. Physicians advised an extended outing and the party may be absent six months. They were with relatives at Santa Paula where the letter was written. The two boys of the family are staying in Long Beach at present.

An unsolicited caller visited the Preston home south of Wintersburg about three o'clock one night the past week and attempted an entrance through a window. Mrs. Preston heard a noise at one of the screen windows and thought the cat must have accidentally been left in the house and was trying to get out. She called her husband who searched the house but failed to find the cat and next morning foot prints were plainly visible beneath the window where the intruder had evidently attempted to work the

Appeals $100 Action Lost In Lower Court

W. W. Crawford of the Santa Ana Welding company today filed an appeal in the superior court here from a recent judgment by Justice J. B. Cox which denied his claim for $100 against the Puritan Dry Cleaners.

Justice Cox rendered judgment July 19, after the plaintiff failed to appear to press the case. The appeal was filed through Attorney Roland Thompson, who was not connected with the case in the lower court.

HELD IN JAIL HERE ON LIQUOR CHARGE

C. N. Cannon, who resides near Huntington Beach, was held in the county jail today in default of $500 cash bail, while awaiting trial October 4 at 2 p. m. before Justice J. B. Cox on a charge of having liquor in his possession.

Cannon and several pints of alleged whiskey were said to have been captured in a raid late Saturday by Under-sheriff E. E. French, Deputies McClellan, Carr, Scott, Adams and Constable J. L. Elliott. Arraigned today, Cannon pleaded not guilty.

Blind Student Is Westminster Guest

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 27.—Francis Penhall spent the week at Bishop enjoying the fishing.

Mrs. Ralph Baxter and children made a trip to Compton Monday.

Mrs. May Baxter and daughter, Miss Alice Baxter, of Compton, spent Thursday as guests of Mrs. Ralph Baxter.

Mrs. M. Hadenham, a blind woman, student of the University of Southern California, is a house guest for the week at the home of Mr. G. A. Murdock.

Mrs. Jennie Clay Mitchell and daughter, Maretha, have also been at the Murdock home for several days.

Mrs. G. A. Murdock was hostess to a large gathering of friends and relatives Thursday and served a delicious chicken dinner. Those present were Mrs. Jennie Clay Mitchell and children, Helen, Gene, Marietta, Bryant and Hubert, Mrs. Hadenham all of Los Angeles, Miss June Slater of Wintersburg, Mrs. H. Dugdale of Etiwanda and four children, Miss Maretha and Clayton Murdock, the twins, Genevieve and Josephine, S. J. Murdock, the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Murdock.

screen loose.

A mysterious night caller also made an appearance at the W. P. Treece home just across the street from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Preston, asking for gasoline and when that was not to be had, for coal oil, and then decided he had better try at the filling station located just a few rods down the boulevard. Other questions asked by the early morning visitor led to the belief that his search for gasoline was but a pretext.

Mrs. J. B. Woodward night operator for the Smeltzer Home Telephone company left on a vacation Saturday. Mrs. Woodward will remain in Los Angeles until Tuesday when she will leave for the East to join her husband who has been at Bryson City, North Carolina, for the past two weeks. The Misses Elizabeth and Ethel Gothard, operators of the exchange, will substitute for Mrs. Woodward during her absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moldal were called to Los Angeles Sunday by the death of Mr. Moldal's father, O. A. Moldal whose death occurred that afternoon following an extended illness. The funeral took place Tuesday at three o'clock at the Rosedale cemetery, Los Angeles. The deceased was seventy-six years of age and is survived by five children. Mr. Moldal returned home following the funeral and Mrs. Moldal is remaining in the city for a few days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodington and son, Donald, are at home from San Juan Hot Springs where Mrs. Woodington spent ten days and Mr. Woodard and Donald a few.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were motored to Los Angeles Tuesday and were accompanied home by Mr. Lewis' nephew, Clarence Hinkle who has been visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Laura Lewis. Clarence may only be here for a few weeks as it has not yet been fully decided that he will be here during the school term.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lewis were Saturday dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Lewis' brother, H. R. Hill of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hilton of Smeltzer were guests Sunday and Sunday evening of Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Wells.

Maynard Benteley, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. L. Moldal is absent this week in the Cajon country on a deer hunt. Mrs. Benteley is staying with her sister, Mrs. Paul Applebury while her husband is away.

Ray Anderson of Long Beach has leased the Britten "Red Front" Barbecue stand just south of Wintersburg on the Huntington Beach boulevard. Anderson took possession the last of the week and he found excitement started soon—two oil workers who had eaten lunch at the stand Monday evening were held up by two highwaymen on the boulevard in front of the stand and relieved of $130.

Mrs. Portz and daughter, Mrs. Bates of Long Beach, were Tuesday visitors at the home of their daughter and sister, Mrs. W. P. Treece, going from here to Huntington Beach to attend the session of the Federation Relief Corps. The ladies had just returned from a vacation trip to Big Bear and Arrowhead Lake.

A Ford coupe was literally demolished at a point just south of the Oceanview school one night this week. Particulars concerning possible injury to the occupants could not be learned.

SAY DEATH DUE TO AUTO CRASH OF LAST MAY

Coroner Charles D. Brown expected to conduct an inquest at 4 p. m. today over the body of a 14-months-old infant, the child of G. Lanfranco, at the Ellis undertaking parlors in Orange.

The infant's death took place Saturday, as a result, it was claimed, of injuries sustained in an automobile collision at El Modena about three months ago. The machines involved were said to have been driven by Lanfranco and A. H. Kraft, of Orange.

Opening of Dance Garden Announced

Opening of the Fairyland dance garden, September 1 at 8 o'clock, one mile south of Santa Ana, under the management of Billy Burghardt was announced here today. There will be fancy dancing by Jack Shannon and Toni. More of the Pantheons circus, and specialty dancing by Mr. Burghardt, it was added. A cafe is in connection beside spectator seating facilities. The floor is large and of hard wood. The music will be furnished by the William M. Semmacher Croomance dance orchestra. The building will be decorated.

S. A. Man Is Wanted On Bad Check Charge

R. W. Moon, Santa Ana, today was charged with issuing a worthless check for $23 to Charles C. Hinton, August 3. Justice J. B. Cox issued a warrant for Moon's arrest, on the filing of a complaint sworn to by Hinton.

REPORT BURGLARIES OF TWO RESIDENCES

Sheriff Sam Jernigan was today investigating two reports of burglaries, one at the Charles Everett home near this city and the other at the residence of Oscar Carlson, Placentia.

In the absence of Everett, who has been away from home for some time, the extent of losses at the Everett home were not known. The house was found, Saturday, to have been entered. At the Carlson home a watch and revolver were stolen.

Former Bank Teller Is Fined $250 Here

Changing his plea when his case was called for trial today in Superior Judge William D. Dehy's court, Benjamin P. Bare, former bank teller of this city, pleaded guilty to a statutory charge and paid a fine of $250.

Bare, who figured with Mrs. G. A. Wilder in an accusation by Bare's wife, filed his changed plea through Attorney Charles D. Swanner. Mrs. Wilder had originally been included in the charge but the case against her was dismissed at the preliminary hearing recently in Justice J. B. Cox's court. She did not appear in today's proceedings. The wife, Mrs. Emma Bare, was present in court, however, prepared to testify against her husband.

According to Mrs. Bare's testimony at the preliminary hearing, Bare took advantage of her absence on a visit to her mother in Iowa, to leave their home in Hollywood and come to Santa Ana.

SECURES DIVORCE DECREE

Mrs. Minnie F. Lindner, of Huntington Beach, was today awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce from Frank L. Lindner, on grounds of cruelty. The case was heard by Superior Judge W. D. Dehy. Mrs. Lindner being represented by Attorney A. E. Koepsel.

CAN'T LOCATE THOSE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

A. H. Smeed, colored resident of Los Angeles, and a colored woman companion, reported to have been injured in an automobile accident near San Juan Capistrano, had not been located today in this vicinity, where they were supposed to have been receiving treatment in a hospital. Inquiries in Santa Ana and at the county hospital failed to reveal their whereabouts.

The man and woman were said to have been hurt yesterday when Smeed's car struck a bank beside the highway and turned over. Four of the six occupants escaped unhurt.

According to H. S. Warner, motorcycle officer who investigated the accident, the registration certificate in Smeed's car was unsigned. Such instances will cause trouble to the car owner after the new traffic laws go into effect at the end of this month, Warner stated.

REDLANDS NURSES HAVE BEACH PICNIC

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 27.—A party held on the beach here Thursday proved to be a delightful outing to a group of Santa Ana and Redlands friends.

Mrs. William Rutledge and daughters, Clarabel and Sadie, Miss Carrie Walters, Mrs. Harry Tibbets, Miss Grote and Miss Charlotte Eneroth composed the party.

The Misses Walters, Eneroth and Grote are nurses at the hospital in Redlands and are spending part of their vacation visiting friends.

Exclusive Showing of Karpen Furniture at Chandler's

—When you buy upholstered furniture you do not know what is beneath the surface—what is under the upholstery. Therefore you must depend upon the reputation of the maker as well as the dealer.

—The Karpen line of upholstered furniture is a nationally advertised quality product having a nation-wide given to the design and construction of every piece to

—For more than forty years it has been the aim of S. Karpen & Bros. to produce furniture that should have truly "friendly" qualities in it. Special attention is given to the design and construction of every piece to make it serve individually the distinct purpose for which it is intended.

—By preserving as far as possible the spirit of the old craftsmen under modern conditions of production, each piece of Karpen furniture embodies a very definite character—a personality. Thought, painstaking care and the fruit of many years' experience are in every piece. Every one must be made worthy to bear the distinctive "Karpen" mark of quality.

—While building the justly famed and beautiful designs of Chippendale, Adam, Heppelwhite, Renaissance, Empire, Queen Anne and Colonial periods, Karpen interprets them in terms of needs and tastes of the present day. Many Karpen period reproductions have been so modernized and individualized as to deserve the name of "Karpenesque."

—Of equal importance with beauty of design is comfort. The greatest ingenuity and resourcefulness are called upon to make the springs and upholstery of Karpen furniture lend their utmost to solid comfort and perfect ease.

—It has always been the aim of Karpen not only to excel in building furniture of beauty and comfort, but to produce it at a price that makes it available to the average American home. For instance, genuine Karpen mohair upholstered overstuffed davenport may be had here as low as $175. High back chairs and low back rockers to match are priced proportionately low.

—Chandler's are the authorized Karpen dealers in Orange county, and extend to you a cordial invitation to come in and see the extensive selection of beautiful Karpen upholstered furniture.

"Yours for quality—but always at the lowest possible price"

Heroine of the "City of Honolulu" Is Bride of Hawaii's Forestry Head at Smart Home Wedding

Lohengrin's Wedding march, a Spanish comb set with brilliant stones and stately, which accompanied and will continue to accompany countless thousands of brides to the altar, heralded the approach of another charming Santa Ana bride Saturday evening at the twilight wedding of Miss Irma Covington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Covington and Leicester Winthrop Bryan, son of Mrs. John Frank Bryan of New York City.

The nuptials, among the loveliest of the season, were solemnized at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. P. H. Covington, 210 South Birch street, a home whose quietly harmonious interior was rendered doubly attractive by the lavish use of quantities of flowers arranged by the skillful and loving hands of Miss Nelle Sumner, warm friend of the bride and her family.

Mrs. J. C. Lamb, Mrs. Fred Taylor and Mrs. Howard Timmons were among those who ravished their guests with a flowery bower might offer fitting setting for the supreme occasion in a young girl's life. The living room of the home was the scene of the event itself and before the fireplace was a canopy of asparagus plumosa fern whose long ends trailed over a magnificent white bearskin rug. Upon the mantel gleamed the light from two tall candelabra of silver branches. At either side of the improvised altar stood rustic baskets of pink gladioli while graduated baskets filled with pink roses spread like rosy wings at either side against a background of palms and ferns.

GUESTS ARE GREETED

Arriving guests were greeted by the bride and mother of the bride, by her sister, Miss Hester Covington and by Mrs. Howard Timmons, and many took the opportunity to examine the array of handsome gifts on display in a small room off the music room. These included a complete set of silver from the groom's mother as well as countless other articles richly beautiful.

An orchestra offered a pleasing musical program preceding the ceremony, choosing such suitable numbers as "My Little Gray Home in the West," "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms," Mendelssohn "Spring Song," and many of Cadman's melodies.

As the appointed hour of 5 o'clock drew near, Miss Hester Covington took her place at the piano as accompanist for Miss Marguerite Barkeley who, gowning in satin and orchid tints, fashioned over georgette crepe in self-tones was charming both to see and to hear as she sang "Elysium" by Oley Speaks and Cadman's "At Dawning."

Miss Covington remained at the piano to play the wedding music as the Rev. Moffett Rhodes entered from the music room simultaneously with a trio of dainty wee maids who came from the hall into the living room. Tiny Dorothy Jane Lee, with all the dignity that "two-going-on-three" could muster, and like a doll in her Frenchy little lace and net frock and Betty Jane Timmons, adorable little blonde daughter of the Howard Timmons in ruffled pink organdy, each carried silver baskets of pink roses adorned with a butterfly bow of orchid ribbon. Following them was Grace Elizabeth Mee, slightly older and taller but delightfully girlish in a be-ribboned organdy creation and carrying a silver shepherd's crook bearing a cluster of roses tied with orchid bow.

FRENCH FROCKS WORN

As the bride with her matron of honor, Mrs. W. B. Tedford followed the small attendants, it was to be met by Mr. Bryan and his best man, Eric G. Michelson, entering from the music room.

Miss Covington wore a lovely hand-made gown of ivory net and filed lace over a georgette slip or orchid, all veiling a foundation of silk tissue adorned with wee garlands of pastel ribbon flowers and convent laces. The gown was a French model from Bouet soeur and with the bride wore the gift of Mr. Bryan, a string of perfect pearls. Pearls were twisted around her wrist in a bracelet of many strands and were pendant from her ear drops. Her hair was dressed low with

Petticoats Return To Feminine Favor

Say farewell to the petticoats! They are gone. The petticoat has come back—and in a safer and more comfortable style than the 'do-about-the-waist' model that creases and bulges around one's middle.

Now it invariably swings from the shoulder and is made of silk. But more than that—it is showing the Chinese influence that is affecting outer dress. Chinese characters, curious Chinese figures, odd Chinese motifs from border designs printed on the silk that is used for the camisole petticoat.

Pipings of black, green, red and other bright colors are being used to edge flounces.

Birthday Celebration Takes Form of Pleasant Dinner

Charming in its appointments was a dinner presented recently by Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Butler of South Orange avenue, honoring the birthday of Mrs. Louis Elwood.

Flowers in delicate colorings centered the table where places were indicated for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Butler, the honoree, Mrs. Elwood and her husband, Dr. Louis Elwood, the Misses Orpha and Anabelle Elwood and Leo Hartfield.

Following the enjoyment of the appetizing dinner served in courses, came an evening of chat enlivened by music and the friendly congratulations and wishes heaped upon the honored guest of the affair.

The fore part of the evening was spent with music, games and a guessing contest, after which the young people were ushered outdoors under the wide-spreading walnut trees, where a candle and electric lighted table, prettily decorated with crepe paper and green garlands and laden with sandwiches, cake, fruits, nuts, candy and ice cream awaited them.

From a branch above the table hung Japanese chimes, from which orange-colored streamers were draped to the place cards, prettily done in California poppy design to carry out the color scheme.

In the center of the table was the most important feature—the birthday cake, decorated with initials, ages and colored candles representing the combined ages, thirteen and eleven, making twenty-four candles to be blown out by the young hostesses.

Those present were Kathleen Milne, Marian Martz, Ernestine Lemon, Eleanor Lemon, Richard Volford, Norman and Wynne Lemon.

Their mother being absent from home, Blanche and Donald Hillman could not attend, and Harold Martin was called to San Pedro, so the merry group was somewhat diminished in number. Richard Volford very gracefully offered the toast for the evening, to which the hostess, Ernestine Lemon, responded with an appropriate reply.

After refreshments the young folks finished the evening with music.

Neighbors of Woodcraft

Tomorrow will bring a pleasant event to members of the Thimble club of the Neighbors of Woodcraft, who will meet at M. W. A. hall for a pot-luck dinner. All members and friends have been assured of a cordial welcome and told the plan that each guest will be expected to bring one prepared dish or else make a silver offering. Dinner will be served at noon and the afternoon spent socially.

Star Social Club

With Mrs. Maud Swarthout and Mrs. George Prather as hostesses at tomorrow afternoon's whist party, members of the social club of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S. are anticipating another of their happily informal afternoons with cards to offer diversion from 2 to 4 o'clock. All members of the Star are extended a cordial invitation to drop in for the afternoon and a small cover charge will be required at the card tables according to the established custom.

Road to Childhood Is Sought and Found at Gay Dinner-party

Moonlight and Japanese lanterns combined with the lure of going back to childhood yielded a happy evening Saturday for guests in the A. B. Watson home, 1612 North Broadway where Mr. and Mrs. Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bishop, a hospitable quartette, received in the garb of children.

In issuing their invitations, the hosts emphasized the nature of the evening. "Go back a few years and be kids once more." Entering fully into the spirit of the occasion, the guests arrived shorn of the dignity and maturity and ready for anything that partook of the joys of childhood.

Countless gay lanterns vied with the silver moon in lighting up the pretty garden where the fun was staged. Dancing was varied by the many games so dear to memory including "Drop the handkerchief" and similar frolics.

Preceding the evening's hilarity was the delectable dinner at 8 o'clock served cafeteria style from the garage and which the "youngsters" enjoyed under the trees of the garden.

Prizes were given for the cleverest and most attractive costumes, Mrs. Norman Fraser easily gaining first prize among the little girls with her saucy blonde curls and her dainty little French party frock. The attractive and unusual fruit knife of crystal which she won was equalled by the desk set which Mr. Kenneth Woolley's long Fauntleroy curls, velvet breeches, silk stockings, sash and embroidered collar won for him.

Second prizes of a ice-bag to Mrs. Hoyt Leshner, winsome in cunning ronyer and a pen wiper to Mr. Watson in farmer boy outfit of overalls, calico shirt and red tie only slightly less brilliant than his shock of red hair, gave added pleasure.

Enjoying the merry evening were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Woolley and their two sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Leshner and their houseguests, Mrs. Mary Gasneder and Miss Rosemary Gasneder of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Guiberson and daughter, Miss Cleo Guiberson of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith and daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Smith, all of whom came from Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gibson, Anaheim; Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Goodman and Mr. Loren Shute of this city in addition to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Bishop.

Junior High Group Summoned to Gay Party

Last Thursday evening, August 23, Miss Ernestine Lemon entertained a few of her Junior High school friends at her home on East Pine street, the event being her thirteenth birthday anniversary, and as her sister Eleanor's birthday anniversary falls in the same month they celebrated together.

The fore part of the evening was spent with music, games and a guessing contest, after which the young people were ushered outdoors under the wide-spreading walnut trees, where a candle and electric lighted table, prettily decorated with crepe paper and green garlands and laden with sandwiches, cake, fruits, nuts, candy and ice cream awaited them.

Coronado Honeymoon Being Enjoyed By Happy Couple

A quiet simplicity characterized the Saturday nuptials of Miss Ruth A. Vandivort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Vandivort of West Third street, and Percy D. Sankey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sankey of Seattle.

The Episcopal church at Orange was chosen as a setting for the ceremony with the Rev. Percy Clarkson reading the beautiful marriage sacrament at high noon. The young people were unattended and only the immediate relatives were present for the nuptial rites.

Miss Vandivort was lovely in a gown of Quaker gray crepe de chine with harmonizing hat and other accessories. The delicate pink roses which she carried offered the charming touch of completion to the artistic effect.

Following their wedding vows the happy couple led the way to St. Ann's Inn where luncheon was enjoyed at a table adorned with butterfly roses combined with maiden-hair fern. Attractive cards indicated places for Mr. and Mrs. Sankey the newly-wedded pair, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Vandivort, Mrs. Alfred Vandivort sr., and Mrs. Mary E. Vandivort of Newcastle, Pa.

During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sankey departed on a motor honeymoon to San Diego and Coronado, Mrs. Sankey wearing a small little blue taffeta frock with silver trimming and a corsage of roses. Shortly after their return to this city, they will leave for Seattle, stopping at different points of interest en route. The new home will be established in the northern city.

Mr. Sankey's father, Percy Sankey sr., is well known in mercantile circles of the north. His son, however, forsook the merchant's pathway and is auditor, connected with the city of Seattle. Both he and his bride are graduates of Seattle's high schools.

Mrs. Vandivort sr. and her daughter, Miss Mary Vandivort who were here for the wedding of their granddaughter and niece, will depart tomorrow for a return to their Pennsylvania home.

AWARD PRIZES FOR TOURNEY AT BALBOA

BALBOA, Aug. 27.—"It was beautiful; the largest and best we have ever had," was the general comment of people who viewed the Tournament of Lights at Balboa Saturday night.

20,000 People Attend

An estimated crowd of 20,000 people viewed the passing of the sixty-two entrants in the tournament. The procession started promptly at 8 o'clock, and every one ample opportunity to view the gala floats, motorboats, yachts, rowboats and canoes, decorated for the occasion and illuminated with lanterns and lights.

A flaming red flare outline of the Orange County Harbor presented a spectacular sight to those who viewed the tournament. The $1,000 lot, donated by W. A. Irwin, local real estate man, was won by L. R. Wilson, business man of Anaheim. His rowboat, "Lucille" was adjudged the most beautiful of the entrants, and created considerable comment and applause as it passed down the course with colored lights playing upon it.

Wins Register Cup

The Santa Ana Register cup of antique bronze, was won by E. D. Burge of Santa Ana. His yacht, "Louise" was decorated and rode anchor in the bay opposite the pavilion. Because of her immense size, she could not very well make the course, but she was awarded second prize.

An immense silver cup donated by Harry Carey, movie actor, who is a member of Newport Harbor Yacht club, was won by Clarence G. White of Redlands with his yacht "Miaou." The craft is listed under the heading of "cat boats."

The following is a complete list of prizes and their winners:

Tournament Judges Give Out Statement On Prize Awarding

BALBOA, Aug. 27.—The following statement was issued from "headquarters" of the Tournament of Light judges shortly after the summons to cease firing" had been given.

Announcement of Awards

"The judges fought until 2:15 o'clock last night. After the dead and wounded had been carried out and the wreckage removed such trophies as remained intact were awarded.

"At ten minutes of one the chairman of the Trophy committee, in a moment of weakness and hunger, seized one of the half pound boxes of candy and devoured it with the help of the other judges. Any participant feeling injured will secure complete restitution by calling at headquarters at the Island Boat House.

"The judges were greatly hampered by the fact that many of the participants DID NOT REGISTER. All boys and girls who decorated boats whose names do not appear are asked to communicate with the committee.

"J. A. BEEK, Chairman Executive Com."

PARK MAN TAKES CANADIAN BRIDE

BUENA PARK, Aug. 27.—News has been received of the marriage of Richard Nelson to Miss Ellen Gibson of Gainsborough, Manitoba.

Richard is the oldest son of Mr. A. Nelson of the Buena Park Lumber company and hardware company, and has many friends to welcome him and his wife on their return to Buena Park. The newlyweds will reside in the Nelson bungalow on Tenth street.

Mrs. M. B. Shaw of San Bernardino is visiting her daughter, Mrs. O. R. Dano.

Mrs. and Mrs. Jack Golden have moved into their new cottage on Eighth street.

Mrs. J. N. Smith and daughter, Nelsa, of Harding, were guests of Mrs. R. E. Jenkins Wednesday.

The Missionary Society entertained the Infant Class of the Sunday School on the lawn at Dr. Hasson's. A unique feature of the party was a Christmas tree, loaded with gifts, not for the children, but brought by them, for the missionary box to be started soon on its long journey across the sea to the heathen children.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hillman, a daughter, August 24, Mr. and Mrs. C. Deal and family moved to Fairmont, Saturday.

Mrs. Henshaw has returned to her home in Los Angeles after spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. Ed Mann.

Mrs. Madge Hill Wells is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hill.

Miss Irma Robinson was a Fullerton visitor Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Robeson were shoppers in Anaheim Wednesday evening.

The R. H. Rock family is home from their vacation trip to San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Weaver are back from their wedding trip and are now at home to their friends in South Pasadena.

Mrs. Earl Dow, president of the P. T. A. has called a meeting of the Executive committee, consisting of officers of the society and chairmen of committees, at her home on Eleventh street, September 4.

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 27.—Henry C. Heard and Amanda Page surprised friends here Saturday by going to Santa Ana, where they were married. They left immediately with Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Heard, for Mountain Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Heard are both former residents of Brushknot, Mo., where they attended school. Mrs. Heard came here a week ago. Mr. Heard is driller for the Weaver Bros. Oil company operating on the Buster Keaton number one well at Long Beach. The couple will make their home in Garden Grove.

Funeral services were held here this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Methodist church for Mrs. Mary De Vaul, 63 years old, who died at her home here Saturday morning. She leaves her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Eva Winters and Mrs. Lola Null, and one son, Eugene Winters of Santa Ana. Mrs. De Vaul has been a member of the Methodist church for years.

Funeral Service AT GROVE MONDAY

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 27.—Two cases in which persons said not to be citizens of the United States were accused of carrying concealed weapons were dropped from the police court calendar temporarily by Police Judge O. W. Anderson in order that felony complaints might be issued.

They were the cases of Pablo Asis, a Filipino, and W. Martin, a Montenegrin.

The court ruled that Filipinos are not considered citizens of the United States under the Philippine bill of rights, and that Asis must face a felony charge.

The cases are the first to come before the local police court under the new law making it a felony for aliens or persons having suffered previous conviction for a felony to carry a concealed weapon.

BIG BEAR TRIP DESCRIBED BY G. G. WOMAN

(Written for The Register by a Member of the Woman's Civic Club of Garden Grove.)

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 27.—"Have you been to Big Bear?"

"Yes."

"Did you enjoy it?"

"Fine!"

"What is it like?"

"Wonderful."

As this was about the extent of information obtainable, we decided to go and see for ourselves.

Leaving Garden Grove at 6:15 a. m. we went the City Creek way, via Brae Canyon to Pomona, Ontario and Highlands avenue. Soon after passing Patton, we turned to the foothills and began our ascent gradually, at first, among orange groves; then sage brush, with oaks and sycamores lining the ravines which dropped away deeper and deeper at every turn.

The air was fragrant with the odor of pines, before we could see them. About 10 o'clock we sat down to a second breakfast in the shade of a group of these sky line sentinels and looked back over the landscape and east down the misty blue canyons where mountain rims were stacked away, one against the other reaching to the land of sunrise.

As we climbed, ferns and many wild flowers greeted us. We kept fresh by the summer showers. We did not ever notice that there are no weeds in the mountains?

We took the turns of the grade carefully, sounding the horn, lest we bump noses with a stranger on the other side.

Everyone was courteous, each backing, or waiting for the other machine at the nearest turnout.

Sawdust Mountain. Our attention was called to a red mountain which we were told was sawdust. Another turn brought us to the rusting cables and decaying foundation of a once rearing saw mill.

From there on, evidences of destruction remained on either side. We could not understand why so many trees were left or right where they were fallen.

Near Pawnskin we looked back and saw Arrowhead Lake (Little Bear) sparkling—a beautiful blue, in its setting of green. Beyond lay the desert, outlined by jagged tan colored mountain peaks. How we would have enjoyed joining the trout fishers down in the clear stream below us, or lunched at Fredalia.

Did you ever get a whiff of fried potatoes, bacon and eggs in the mountains?

However, our course lay onward and upward and then down, down, and we sensed that we were nearing the lake. But the sky had become clouded, the lake looked gray and big raindrops chased each other down the windshield.

At the end of the lake were acres of wild iris. After a dash through the sweet scented forest, where there were rows and rows of cabins, we arrived at Big Bear—a roaring commercialized street in the woods.

Theater and Everything. We saw a movie theater, drug store, two Chaffee Stores, and a two-story department store in course of construction, but just then the clouds opened—and we were glad of our hostess' greeting and the cheery glow of pine cones in the little wood stove just inside the cabin door.

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 27.—Miss Martha Kelsey, who has been visiting in Los Angeles, returned Thursday. She was accompanied home by her friend, Mrs. Viola Turner of Los Angeles.

Sailed bids will be received up to September 15 for a suitable location for the Garden Grove post office. Among requirements is 1200 square feet of floor space, good light, and good location. Those desiring to submit bids, may receive full information from Miss Mabel Head, local postmaster.

Wife Says She Bought Uniform for Husband

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 27.—Two cases in which persons said not to be citizens of the United States were accused of carrying concealed weapons were dropped from the police court calendar temporarily by Police Judge O. W. Anderson in order that felony complaints might be issued.

They were the cases of Pablo Asis, a Filipino, and W. Martin, a Montenegrin.

The court ruled that Filipinos are not considered citizens of the United States under the Philippine bill of rights, and that Asis must face a felony charge.

84-Acre Ranch Is Sold for $150,000 To Anaheim Buyer

ORANGE, Aug. 27.—J. McArthur of Anaheim Saturday sold to A. R. Marsom of Fullerton, an 84-acre ranch near El Modena, between Orange and Olive, for a consideration of $150,000. The ranch is said to be one of the finest in the section.

Mr. Marsom recently sold his property at the corner of Spadra and Whiting avenues, Anaheim, on which is the Marwood apartment block, to Miss Lillian Yaeger, who now owns the entire frontage to Chapman avenue.

The negotiations for the transfer of the ranch property were conducted by the principals in the big deal.

Mr. Marsom, it is intimated, will continue to make his home in Fullerton.

EXTRA LIGHTS OF NIGHT TOURNAMENT

BALBOA, Aug. 27.—The yacht "Mary" came to grief in the Tournament of Lights here Saturday night when her skipper, Raymond Smith, ran her aground. Latest reports were to the effect that "Mary" was still resting uneasily in the mud.

Celestine White of Tustin and Frances White of Pasadena made a hit that will be long remembered when they appeared in the tournament representing mermaids. They were dressed in outfit flannel wrapped over bathing suits, and sprinkled with artificial snow to give the effect of fish scales.

"Gnome," the rowboat, furnished the setting for the unique entrants. They were represented as "sunning" themselves reclining upon a huge rock.

A stream of people have been coming into Joe Beek's office to look at the trophies which he has arranged on a table for public view.

"I've had to keep open house all day for hundreds who have come in to view the prizes," Joe said.

Five different families named "White" were represented in the tournament. One White family had four members of their family entered, one each in four different entries. It was all the judges could do to keep from getting somewhat mixed up. But everything was taken care of.

The K. K. K. had a float entered in the tournament. The fact was not known until after the parade had started. They entered the rowboat "Lillian," and won sixth prize, a brass stern light. The boat carried ten men, dressed in the K. K. K. costume, and carried the "fiery" cross in the prow of the boat.

ORANGE CENSUS WORKERS WILL START WORK

ORANGE, Aug. 27.—Launching a municipal census pertinent to the formation of an Elk's lodge here, workers under the direction of Will N. Persons, who has been named chief deputy, will take the field Tuesday morning to determine the exact population of Orange.

The census is to be taken in connection with the plan to form an Elk's lodge in Orange.

Population statistics, showing that the town has a white population of 5,000, must be supplied the exalted ruler before further steps can be taken toward organizing the lodge order.

When the census is launched this week, it is expected that a crew of ten men, possibly more, will start proceedings.

Most of these will be Elks, interested in the formation of an order here. They, in all probability will donate their services, it was said.

What expense is incurred, however, will be shared jointly by the Elks and the city. At a recent meeting the city council voted a $50 appropriation toward the work.

Each census worker is to be assigned a certain district in order that the enumeration can proceed along systematic lines.

It is believed that the work can be completed within a comparatively short time under this system.

BUENA PARK CLUB REHEARSING PLAY

BUENA PARK, Aug. 27.—The play committee of the Aid Society of the Congregational church is rehearsing a play entitled "A Patron of Art," which will be given soon.

It will be necessary to have the school hall, which has been moved to the rear of school grounds, connected with electric lights again. Announcement of the date of the play will be made later.

MOTOR BOAT HAS ORIGINAL SCHEME

BALBOA, Aug. 27.—"Love P. rates," would have been an appropriate name for the motorboat, "Hyak," winner of the first prize in the motor boat entries in the Tournament of Lights Saturday night.

With their boat decorated as a pirate ship of old, and using the now famous "B. P." quotation, "Yo ho and a bottle of hair tonic, (the correct word deleted) they made a very charming young miss walk the proverbial plank all through the tournament.

Originality of theme and execution won them first honors, Mr. Beek stated.

FAIR, BULKY 'STARS' AREN'T AS INTIMATE AS PHOTO SHOWS IT

Miss Letzel and Soudan, two of the stars with Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey.

"Hey, Jimmy! Come on, quick, and see what's happenin' to de coicous goll. Huly gee! De hippo's swallerin' her whole!"

And like as not grown-up youngsters would travel just as fast as Jimmy, were they summoned to witness such a sight when the circus comes to town Tuesday, September 11.

But it isn't true. That is to say, the picture which accompanies this tale of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus press agent wasn't snapped as you see it reproduced here. It merely represents what is known as "trick" photography.

Both of the subjects are with the combined circus. The little lady is Lily Letzel, who was this spring officially recorded as the world's "greatest aerial gymnast." The hippopotamus is Soudan, father of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey baby hippo, "Tiny Toodles." Miss Letzel and Soudan are close friends. And now that the giant fellow is a proud parent, he is unusually amiable. Still he and Lily are not quite as "close" as the illustration represents.

It was like this: The circus photographer first made a portrait of the hippo. Next he posed Miss Letzel in a swing. Then he made a double printing and so obtained

'BABY SHOW' WILL GREET ROTARIANS

With a "baby show" scheduled as one of the features for the program tomorrow, Rotarians of the city today were looking forward to the regular luncheon meeting of the club in anticipation of a lively program.

W. D. Rudd, who is chairman of the program committee, today refused to divulge details of the "baby show" but gave assurance that it would be a feature that would offer more than ordinary amusement to the members of the club.

In addition, there will be an address on the motor vehicle laws by a representative of the Auto club of Southern California; vocal selections by Miss Zola Powelson; selections by the Chandler trio, and a talk on advertising by L. R. Crawford, local advertising man.

In arrangement of the program Rudd has been assisted by C. F. Skirvin, W. McKay and C. V. Davis.

GEMS VALUED AT $50 STOLEN HERE

Jewelry valued at $50 was stolen from the home of J. A. Boles, 612 Hickey street, last night, according to police reports today. While the family was absent between 7:30 and 9:30 p. m., the report said, the burglar entered the house by using a pass key.

The house was thoroughly ransacked, the investigating officer said. No place where valuables might be kept had been overlooked.

There was evidence of a diligent search having been made in every room.

When Boles returned to the house he immediately notified the police. The police failed to find any suspicious characters in the neighborhood.

The jewelry stolen consisted of several rings and other valuable articles.

this startling result. Soudan and family will receive afternoon and night in the red and golden cage that stands in the center of the menagerie tent when the circus comes here. Miss Letzel heads the list of more than 700 human performers who will add thrills to the three-hour program, which includes the world's finest wild animal acts, 200 trained horse numbers and other big features never before shown in America.

TEACHING POST VACANCIES TO BE FILED

Recommendations of J. A. Cranton, city school superintendent, as to prospective teachers to fill vacancies on the staffs of Santa Ana schools will be received by the board of education at a meeting here tomorrow at 4 p. m., it was announced today.

Vacancies exist in the school nurse position, several grammar schools, and also in the junior high schools, it was stated at the superintendent's office.

Most of the appointments to school positions were made in May. Since then a number of resignations have occurred. The teaching force for the coming year will be greater than last year. To nearly every elementary and grammar school in the city, classrooms are being added.

F. L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, points out that the building of additional rooms at several of the grammar schools will care for a large increase in attendance.

FINDS CALIFORNIA EAST'S MAIN TOPIC

"Everyone is talking of coming to California," was the message brought from St. Louis to Santa Ana by Mrs. E. J. Bush, deputy city clerk, who returned today from a vacation at a former home city.

"I did not realize how new and bright things looked here until my return from visiting smoky St. Louis," Mrs. Bush said. "It seemed very dirty back there. It is second only to Pittsburgh I am sure."

"California is the main topic of conversation. Everyone is talking of coming to California."

With the return of Mrs. Bush, Miss Erma Bencke, recently added to the city clerk's staff, has taken a leave of absence for a visit to Catalina.

JAIL WIFE AS MAN THOUGHT MURDERED

JACKSON, Aug. 27.—Charges of murder are expected to follow the inquest here over the body of a man, believed to be David Armasco, found shot in the head near Twin lakes in Alpine county and who died at Twin Lakes here, District attorney and sheriffs from a number of counties in Superior California will be present when the inquest is held.

Investigation by Sheriff George Lucot and District Attorney T. G. Negrich of this county has developed that word of finding the wounded man was brought to Twin Lakes by Mrs. David Armasco, who, it is believed, may be the wife of the dead man. Shortly following she left Twin Lakes with her two children in an automobile. Several men at Twin Lakes say a man known as Ivan Hines and believed to be her divorced husband, left with her.

Woman Caught in Oroville. Mrs. Armasco was apprehended at Oroville by Butte county officers. The man, with whom she is said to have left Twin Lakes, was not found with her at Oroville, but Butte officers are continuing to search for him.

An autopsy was performed on the body of the dead man, and it is learned that no powder marks were found on the man's face. The fatal shot is supposed to have been fired from a .22 caliber rifle that was found lying by the body, and District Attorney Negrich is of the opinion that suicide would have been impossible without leaving powder marks. The course of the bullet also is such as to make self-infliction a remote possibility.

All At Power Camp. The dead man, Mrs. Armasco and Hines all are said to have been at Twin Lakes at the camp of the Western States Gas and Electric Company.

Mrs. Armasco is said to have resided in Placerville recently.

DEAD MAN BELIEVED TO BE KNOWN IN PLACERVILLE

PLACERVILLE, Aug. 27.—A man shot in the head in Alpine county and who died in a hospital at Jackson is believed here to be David ("Shorty") Armasco, who formerly was employed at the Placerville sanatorium here as an attendant.

Armasco, while employed at the hospital, fell in love with and married a Mrs. Harris, a patient, who was convalescing from the effects of bullet wounds inflicted by a former husband. His wife had been married twice before, the first time to a man named Hines.

The local officials will determine whether the woman taken into custody at Oroville in connection with the shooting is the woman Armasco married here.

Westminster Girl.

To Leave Hospital. WESTMINSTER, Aug. 27.—Little Elizabeth Baker, known to her friends as "Smiles," has been very sick at the Anaheim hospital with cholera infantum.

She went home from Sunday school two weeks ago last Sunday and complained of a headache, was worse next day and taken to the hospital Tuesday where she has been ever since.

Thursday of last week she was reported very much better and it is expected she will be able to come home sometime this week.

SWEET POTATO DAY SET FOR SEPT. 14

Dr. L. L. Harter and J. L. Wyman of the United States Department of Agriculture and W. M. Cory, Orange county's assistant farm advisor, were engaged today in making preparations for the sweet potato field day to be held in the county September 14.

Orange county has more than seventy sweet potato growers with 2,000 acres planted that puts the county third in sweet potato production of California counties.

Dr. Harter and Wyman are executives of the governmental plant industry department.

REFERENDUM IN OIL LINE LEASE LURES VOTERS

Not since election time last year has registration been quite so brisk at any point in this county as it is right now within the city limits of Newport Beach.

Deputies of County Clerk J. M. Backs are finding that the proposed referendum of a beach city ordinance, granting a franchise to the Simmons company for an oil pipeline passing from the city limits, toward Huntington Beach, to the end of the city's wharf at Newport Beach, is causing the beach city to register up close to full strength.

The interest in the referendum is more than city-wide. All Orange county, it is pointed out, is watching the situation at the beach city. It is believed that registration for the election must close within two weeks. Only those who will have been in the city for at least thirty days previous to the election will be eligible to vote. The law requires a residence of ninety days in the county, the date of residence starting at least ninety days previous to the day of election.

Standard Explains Why Prices Change

The local office of the Standard Oil company is distributing a pamphlet that presents the Standard's viewpoint of the gasoline war.

The pamphlet says: When the price of "gas" goes down, or up, you wonder why. Every now and then you have observed a change in the price of gasoline. It has gone down, or up. For the last three years the changes—there have been six of them during this period—have all been downward. No doubt you wonder why the change, especially if the price goes up. One day a gallon of "gas" costs a certain number of cents—the next day it is more, or less. Naturally you wonder why.

Perhaps you think that the president of the Standard Oil company simply says to his colleagues of the board of directors:

"Well, let's raise the price of gasoline this morning."

Not so. No man, nor group of men, nor company, nor group of companies, can "control" the price of gasoline, nor of any other commodity in general use.

This is what makes the price of "gas" go up and down: when there is a plentiful supply of gasoline, the price of gasoline drops. When there is an insufficient supply of gasoline, the price ascends. This is not theory. It is fact. It is history, too, of gasoline and of every commodity in the world as far back as history goes. It is economic law, unbreakable, incapable.

The price of crude oil is the principal factor. The value of crude fluctuates, rises and falls, in strict accord with the volume the earth yields, related, of course, to consumption by the public. There are other factors—the cost of producing and transporting oil, of manufacturing and of marketing—these also vary with world conditions, again obeying the immutable law of supply and demand. Costs of materials, costs of labor, go up and down; since the Great War, mostly up, as all the world knows.

Three years ago the Pacific coast underwent a painful experience, more painful to a harassed oil industry than to any one else. It is known as "the shortage." The supply of crude oil proved insufficient to meet a tremendous demand. Prices ascended to high levels.

The scene changed. High prices were offered for crude. Everyone started to "wildcat." New fields of oil were discovered. More and more oil—a flood. And the more it came the less its worth. Prices of crude dropped and dropped, and gasoline came tumbling after.

Here, then, is the proof of what we say:

1920—shortage—high prices.
1923—over-production—low prices.

The unbeatable law at work. The price of gasoline was 60 per cent higher in 1920 than it is today.

WORKMAN IS KILLED

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—James Bender, 39, of Jersey City, a laborer employed by the Interborough Rapid Transit company, was killed when he climbed from a pan hanging under the elevated structure at the Rector street station of the Ninth avenue line, stepping directly in front of a north-bound train in charge of Timothy McCarthy.

The front car ran over Bender, beheading him. McCarthy was arrested.

TO ORGANIZE BIKE CLUB ON THURSDAY

Permanent organization of the Santa Ana Bicycle club will be perfected at a meeting of cyclists to be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Henry's Cycle shop, 427 West Fourth street, Henry Beisser, proprietor of the shop, announced today.

Decision to organize a club was made yesterday afternoon at Orange county park, where Beisser entertained a number of enthusiasts with a weiner bake. Chester Dismart was elected temporary president of the club and Grover Sprague was named treasurer. Beisser will act as advisor to the club officials. Dues were placed at 25 cents per month, for the purpose of developing funds for club picnics.

"The club is certain to be a great success," said Beisser. "All boys of good character and interested in clean, wholesome sport, may join the club."

CATALINA TOURIST SEASON AT HEIGHT

H. J. Patrick, general manager of the Santa Catalina steamship company, was a dinner guest of G. A. Schweiger, manager of St. Ann's Inn, here yesterday. The steamship man was a regular visitor at Modjeska's home, when that place was being managed by Schweiger. Catalina is at the height of its annual season now, Patrick told Schweiger. Accommodations have been reserved well in advance by those desiring to vacation on the island, according to Patrick, who said the season usually comes to a close shortly after Labor day, when the winter visitors begin to arrive.

BAD COLD BOTHERS CHAMP IN WORKOUT

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Bothered with a heavy cold, Jack Dempsey plans to knock off his training for the Firpo fight for several days this week and he may not resume work until Thursday.

In front of a crowd of 3,000 spectators, including many society women, Dempsey worked yesterday with George Godfrey and Jack Burke and failed to show much class. He complained that his muscles were stiff and that the cold was slowing him up. Rather than take a chance on throwing himself clear off form, Dempsey said today he wanted to take several days' rest and doctor up the cold.

Jack McAuliffe, Farmer Lodge and Jack Renault are expected to join the sparring partners at the Dempsey camp today and when the champion resumes work he will have plenty of heavyweights to get in the way of his punches.

Little on This List

PLENTY FAMILIAR ONES

Industries, Seasons, Birds,
Materials and Whatnot,
All Are Represented

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT

You are all familiar with the omnivorous reader who failed to find the dictionary interesting because it jumped so from subject to subject.

He has no relation to the man who delighted in the telephone directory because the characters were so many and so well-chosen. The latter seized the newest Orange county directory just as it was issued from the press at the Plaza printing company, and, turning to Santa Ana glanced at the array of names.

"Well, well, the biblical prophecy has come true, hasn't it?" he murmured, "here is the Lyon and the Lamb lying down together to say nothing of a whole menagerie of animals equaling those to appear in the circus due here September 11.

Lists Animals, Birds

"Listen to those you harbor in the city," and he recited off rapidly "You have Bucks, Bears and Bulls, Harts, Beavers, Bullocks and Foxes. If you lack a donkey, you have a Bray and if there is no dog there is at least a Barker. While, as for the fowls of the air and of the farm, there is many a Bird, both Bunting and Martin. Hawke, Dawes and Crane. Cock and Drake with most of them belonging to the Singer species, needing neither a Harp nor a Horn for their music. Quick and Swift on the wing, yet every Egge they lay may Hatch out a Bird to be snared by the Fowler.

Perhaps you are interested in the industries which are represented by several Bakers, Cartwrights, Cooks, Fishers, Gardiners, Porters, Ropers, Chandlers, Shoemakers, and even the Law represented, to say nothing of the church with Nuns and Bops.

Pupils to Attend High School Here Living at Other Places Notified

Pupils from outside the Santa Ana school district who expect to enter the local high school for the first time this year should, this week, confer with W. M. Clayton, vice-principal, for the purpose of arranging their credentials and classifications, it was announced today.

Clayton, beginning tomorrow, will be at his office at the high school from 9 a. m. to 12 m., he said. Registration for fall term classes will begin Thursday, September 6. School will begin Tuesday, September 11.

TO LAY STEEL FOR NEW BANK HERE SOON

With a power hoist on the ground, Louis Byers, foreman in charge of building operations on the new First National bank building, today was awaiting arrival of cranes and other pieces of machinery necessary to the installation of steel in the big structure. Byers said that placing of steel would be under way by the end of this week.

He stated that when the work is started it will be rushed. Much of the steel needed has been fabricated and is ready for shipment to Santa Ana when equipment for handling heavy pieces is in working order. Indicating that the contractor contemplates fast work, Byers said it was more than probable that all steel would be in position by the first of October. Working of a night crew is not contemplated, Byers said.

Locates Brother After Lapse of Twenty Years

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 27.—After losing trace of one another for twenty years, Joseph Depot of this city and Christopher Depot of Barrier Lake, Saskatchewan, Canada, Brothers, who lived in Wheatland in their younger days, will resume correspondence.

Shortly after the brothers separated, Joseph Depot moved from this city to the mountains. Letters that the brother in Canada wrote him failed to reach his new address, and letters that the California brother sent to Canada were returned because Christopher had changed his address also. Through a newspaper advertisement which met the eye of old residents of this city, in which the brother in Canada made inquiry for his lost brother, Joseph was located in a local hotel. He at once wrote a letter to apprise Christopher that he is still alive.

Joseph has just completed arrangements to spend his last days in the Odd Fellows home at Los Gatos.

Earnings Short; Blind Beggar Blames Liquor

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 27.—Too much fusil oil contained in bootleg liquor causes the partaker to put the brakes on his pocketbook, and causes business in his line to become almost nil in these prohibition days. So says California Nance, blind violinist of this city, who earns his living playing at the street curb.

"When good liquor was served there seemed to be a better spirit and men were more liberal in helping to fill my tin cup, but this jack-ass and wine of inferior quality sure has made a change, all on account of this 'refusal oil,'" says Nance.

YULETIDE MAIL RUSH WILL BE MET HERE

"Do It Early," However to Be Slogan Despite New Space Facilities

BY TOM LEWIS.

'Twas the night before Christmas, and—

Yes, you guessed it! This is a story about Yuletide, and fifty little packages, all done up in pink, and blue, and white, and all that sort of thing. Remember those huge stacks of Christmas mail that piled up so persistently in the vicinity of Third and Sycamore last December?

Yes, but what's the grand and glorious idea—why talk about snowstorms in midsummer? Oh, just to get your mind off your troubles, and to look forward a bit for the purpose of seeing, if we can, what is going to happen when Uncle Sam shoulders his huge mail-sack when Santa Claus goes on his annual rampage some three months hence.

October To See Total
"It's a bit early," says Postmaster C. D. Overshiner, when asked if he is already figuring on how much of an allowance they'll ask for to take care of the Christmas rush. Come around about October—then maybe we'll have some definite figures. Just at present, we are more interested in getting the three extra postmen we need so very badly."

Nevertheless, Christmas is coming, as Pa and Ma and the rest of the family will begin to realize one of these fine days, and even now the "do your shopping early" slogan is not entirely out of order. The earlier you shop the easier it's going to be to fill all the little socks the night before Christmas.

Better Facilities
But getting back to post offices and mail carriers and Santa Claus and the oodles and oodles of mail, and all that sort of thing—

Santa Ana is going to have a much better chance to handle its great volume of Yuletide mail this year. Every day you see the perspiring Bob Bisby out in the rear of the postoffice, watching sweating laborers as they place ripe, red bricks in place for the postoffice addition.

That addition, Bisby declares is going to mean a lot to post office employees and the people of Santa Ana and Orange county. "With improved facilities, more workers, and the 'mail your parcels early' campaign to help out, the chances are that Santa Ana will weather the December storm. Just what the extra cost will be remains to be seen.

Youth Burned By Tar Resting Comfortably

The condition of Arthur Thompson, 18, 1046 West Camille street, who was badly burned about the head, arms and shoulders at Huntington Beach, today was reported as favorable, he was resting comfortably at the Community hospital.

According to attending physicians, Thompson's injuries are painful, but not necessarily serious. Thompson was burned when a bucket of hot tar fell upon him while he was working on the roof of a house.

COUNTY CHORAL UNION TO SELL MEMBERSHIPS

To Extend Scope of Body
To Include Community;
Drive Is Next Week

With a mighty effort put forth during the whole of next week, the members of the Orange County Choral union expect to put the union on its feet, financially, for the coming season.

Members of the club, led by their president, Mrs. C. A. McCullah, of Anaheim, have been pledged to make of themselves the flying wedge that will be necessary to sell, during that week, not less than 1,000 associate memberships.

Fred Medbery, well-known automobile dealer, is chairman of the drive committee.

Two Operas Planned
The choral union plans to present two operas this winter, first "Robin Hood," which will be ready for the stage in November; and, second, "Carmen," which will be presented probably in March or April. Two performances of each of these operas will be given in Santa Ana, one at Apahelm and one at Fullerton.

Each associate member is to be given six tickets to each of the productions. The fee for an associate membership is $5.

Among the details of the campaign to be conducted next week, made public today, was that the newspapers of the county are to be asked to co-operate with publicity. In each newspaper, if possible, a coupon will be printed. This coupon can be filled out and, with a check, sent to the campaign committee.

Members To Assist
The union's work for the coming year is made a real country-wide organization. In the past two years while the organization was called a county choral union, much of the work was centered in Santa Ana. This year, it is proposed to extend the duties of officers and committees so that the organization will represent the whole county.

During the drive next week, various clubs of the county will be told of the work and plans of the choral union.

Every member of the choral union is to be asked to help in the associate membership drive. Each will be given a quota of memberships to sell.

NOTED WAR WORKERS ON U. S. C. FACULTY

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—Dr. Karl T. Waugh, chief psychological examiner in the Army during the war, later senior officer in the reconstruction division and widely known in the education world as an executive of Berea college, Berea, Ky., where he has also served as professor of philosophy and psychology, will become dean of the college of liberal arts, University of Southern California, beginning with the new school year in September.

Dr. Waugh is widely known for his work in education as well as in the Army during the war. He has been dean of Berea college since his discharge from the Army in 1919. He was born in Cawnpore, India. He received his B. A. and M. A. from the Ohio Wesleyan university and also the M. S. and Ph. D. degrees from Harvard. He was Thayer scholar at Harvard from 1905 to 1906 and held fellow in 1906-7.

During the war he was personnel officer, psychological section of the office of the Surgeon-General of the Army, and in that position assembled specialists for the psychological service of the war. He held the rank of major. He was chief psychological examiner of the Army, located at Camp Gordon, and in charge of intelligence examinations of 60,000 enlisted men. Following this service he was senior officer of the reconstruction division at Fort McPherson, Ga., where he also served as morale officer until his discharge in 1919. Following this he was a special agent for the Federal Board for Vocational Education, being vocational adviser, field officer and supervisor of advisement, selecting occupations and planning training for disabled soldiers.

Whole Town Moves To Location On Railroad

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Aug. 25.—Klamath county claims a progressive town in Yainax, on the Klamath Indian reservation. Yainax is so progressive that it is moving bodily four miles west to the terminus of the Strahorn railway, whose rails will reach that point within a few days. Yainax is composed of but one store and a few other buildings, but what there is of the town is going to have railroad transportation even since it has been necessary to move the entire place by means of trucks, wagons and hard labor.

JUVENILE HOME BIDS DUE FOR OPENING HERE

R. R. Miller, Orange county probation officer, was all eagerness here today, pending the opening of bids tomorrow by the board of supervisors for the first unit of the juvenile home to be erected by the county, within the new few months, on Fruit street, near Grand avenue. Miller has worked tirelessly in an effort to equip this county with one of the best buildings of the kind in the Southland.

Architect Frederick H. Eley submitted complete plans and specifications for the building several weeks ago, estimating the probable cost of the structure to be between $35,000 and $40,000.

"The building will be of concrete and steel," said Miller, "and will have twenty-four large rooms and a dormitory. Later additional units will be built.

Another Unit Planned.
"During the first year or so it is probable we will have to use the new building for girls exclusively, leaving the boys at the old detention home for the present, but as speedily as possible, we will construct another unit and take care of both boys and girls in the new home. Then we will use the old building on Grand avenue for dependents."

One of the most interesting and helpful features of the new home will be the class instruction to be given the children by teachers employed jointly by city and county authorities.

"When school opens this year," said Miller, "we will have a school teacher at the home on Grand avenue for the first time. Heretofore, we have had to educate the children there in a hit or miss fashion. The new plan eliminates all such hazards. Moreover, when the new home is completed and ready for occupancy—by the first of the year, we hope—we will have two, possibly three classrooms and will be prepared to give the educational features undivided attention."

To Be in 10-Acre Grove.
"There will be another feature of great value to parents of the city and county who have children who refuse to go to school. Under this plan, any child who declines to attend school, may be placed in the home and given instruction by regularly accredited teachers. Thus education, the most potent factor in reformation, will be used to give the boys and girls a fair start in life."

The new home for boys and girls will be situated in the heart of a walnut grove, in a ten-acre tract. Boys sent to the home will be given an opportunity to learn a great deal about agriculture at first hand and will assist in taking care of the walnut grove.

It was expected the contractors will be given about three months in which to complete the structure.

Sailor Man Had Nothing In Versatility on L. A. Ludwig

"Oh I am the cook and the captain bold
And the crew of the captain's gig;
And the midshipmite and the bosun tight
And the mate of the Nancy brig."

Thus chanted the melancholy survivor of the ill-fated and cannibalistic crew of the "Nancy." But he had nothing on L. A. Ludwig, who is cook, captain and crew of the good ship "Santa Ana Auto Park."

For Ludwig is many, many things in connection with being custodian of the park. Are you a stranger within the gates of the city and desirous of knowing something about the climate, crops and natural resources of Orange county?

Ludwig will tell you. Are you a tourist more or less interested in acquiring property with a view to making this your permanent home?

Ludwig will fan that interest to a flame and, incidentally, protect you from oil speculators and overzealous persons while you leisurely look for a location.

Do you merely wish to linger in lazy luxury and see the sights of the city, returning at eventide to prepare your supper over the unfamiliar mechanism of a gas hot-plate?

Ludwig will come to your assistance and teach you all the ins and outs of the feat of gas combustion, for he surely wields a wicked match in lighting gas fires.

"Do you know what a time some people who come to the park have with cooking on gas?" he queried, between swishes of water over the cement floor of the "serveteria."

That great community kitchen at the park which he scrubbed as he chatted.

We had never given the matter a thought, having taken it for granted that practically every American housewife had been born with a gas stove in her mouth, so to speak. But we were to learn otherwise.

"No indeed, we have many come here who have always used wood or coal for cooking, and the gas is new and more or less terrifying to them," Ludwig said. "Then it is up to me to turn teacher and supervise their cooking efforts until they are familiar with gas."

Watch the Rules
"But, bless me, that isn't all. We have to watch constantly to see that rules are observed. Some people will take advantage of you every time. It isn't for nothing that I wear the star of the special policeman. Not that I have to exert the authority of the law often, but when I do that little star works wonders." With a smile at the remembrance, the custodian will relate his first experience in dismissing objectionable persons from the park. And, listening to that experience, one is certain of who put the cuss in custodian—it was the objectionable persons so dismissed. Also, one recognizes the captain bold.

Ludwig was not always interested in camping parks. In fact, when he made his most recent trip back to his early home in Minneapolis, the flour city, traveling overland by automobile, he found no conveniences other than an occasional free camping ground bearing the sign "wood and water." At that time he never dreamed of the conveniences which he offers travelers today in the name of the city of Santa Ana.

Once Was a Miller
He has been an ardent Californian for the last ten or a dozen years, giving up his life-long work as a miller to come to this state, seeking health after a nervous breakdown. His first venture was in a bicycle shop, and many a Santa

ATTACK SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS' LAW HERE

The Breed bill, much discussed and criticized motor vehicle act, has drawn fire from a new quarter, it was revealed today, with hints of possible attack by Orange county school districts upon the validity of Section 63 of the act, which relates to the operation of motor buses. This section, which provides that the driver of a motor bus owned by a school district must be at least 21 years old, is regarded as being not only a costly thorn in the sides of the school districts, but a "o as discriminative."

Moved by the prospect of an increase in expenses, amounting to many thousands of dollars annually to Orange county schools alone, certain districts are said to be seriously considering a test of the section, basing the attack upon constitutional grounds. The Fullerton union high school district already has put out tentative "feelers" in this direction by seeking an opinion from the district attorney's office regarding the legality of the section.

Fullerton Hardest Hit.
It is estimated that the operation of the act would cost the Fullerton district approximately $1900 per month, that figure representing the probable difference in drivers' salaries under the present and proposed conditions. The district, at present, pays students $15 per month each to drive its fourteen school buses. With the new law in effect, it is regarded as likely that an adult on full time employment basis would be required for each bus, at a salary of at least $150 per month, judging from the average wage in that district, where the oil fields offer profitable employment in competition.

This estimate of increased cost does not take into account the Fullerton grammar school district, which also operates buses. Similar conditions also exist on a smaller scale in Anaheim, Orange, Huntington Beach and other districts. The school districts, who are

Information was received from various parts of Washington that real estate men from Sacramento, believed to be representing Sacramento Chinese, were seeking leases on property.

The prices offered are far above those which prevail, and it is believed the Chinese are willing to pay heavy rents in order to get places in Washington.

No information is to be obtained from Sacramento Chinese. They profess to know nothing about the rumored move.

GREATER WATER USE INDICATES CITY GROWING AT RATE YET UNEQUALLED

Each Person's Average Is 157 Gallons Daily As Pumps Make Record

JULY IN UNUSUAL GAIN

Increased Consumption Is Despite Cooler Season
Than of Last Year

Santa Ana's 27,000 inhabitants today were consuming water, for household and business purposes, at the rate of 157 gallons each every day.

Shattering all past records, the huge engines at the city water works on West First street, were pumping water at the rate of 131,475,600 gallons a month. The daily consumption average was 4,241,148 gallons.

These figures were a matter of record at the office of Walter Gray, city water superintendent.

Gain 10,000,000 Gallons.

The figures for the month of July, 1923, surpassed the mark for July, 1922, by exactly 10,243,971 gallons. Gray's records disclosed.

The gain in the daily average totaled 317,547 gallons.

"The increase in the consumption of water is one sure way of telling whether a city actually is growing," Gray said. "More people invariably means need for more water. Santa Ana has been using more water each month.

Summer Is Cooler.

"While our gain of 10,243,971 gallons over July of last year is quite imposing in itself, we must remember that the weather this summer has not been nearly as warm as it was last year.

"When it gets hot people naturally drink more water, and use more water on their lawns. For that reason, it is virtually impossible to reach any conclusion, by the consumption of water, as to just how much we have increased our population. Our increase, it is safe to say, is larger than the consumption of water shows it to be."

Unearth Asserted Plan For Gambling Centers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The residents of Washington, Yolo county, are up in arms over what they believe is a general move of Sacramento's Chinatown across the Sacramento river to their community.

Events of the past week indicate the Washington people believe, a plan to establish a large gambling center there. Recently two houses were occupied by Sacramento Chinese. Raids followed by peace officers, as a result of which charges of gambling were made.

The raids followed a petition sent by Washington residents to the district attorney of Yolo county.

Information was received from various parts of Washington that real estate men from Sacramento, believed to be representing Sacramento Chinese, were seeking leases on property.

The prices offered are far above those which prevail, and it is believed the Chinese are willing to pay heavy rents in order to get places in Washington.

No information is to be obtained from Sacramento Chinese. They profess to know nothing about the rumored move.

ARRESTED ON BOOZE CHARGE
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 27.—B. L. Langford of this city was arrested, Saturday night, charged with transporting booze. Two pints of liquor were found in his possession, the police said. He was released on $100 bail and is scheduled to appear before Judge Warner's court this morning.

Five Washdays Now instead of one

Monday

Tuesday

Wednesday

Thursday

Friday

You no longer have to have the washing done on Monday. That ancient prejudice was shattered when modern laundry service appeared.

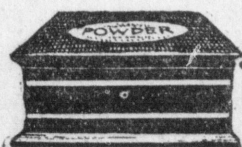

Tuesday is just as much a washday as Monday; Thursday and Friday as much as Wednesday. You can send the family washing to us on any one of these five days and be assured the same high quality of work. In fact, we may be able to return your bundle a little more promptly if it is given to us the latter half of the week. And of course, no matter what day you make washday, you have the same wide choice of laundry services. You can select any of our services and have it performed on the washday you find most convenient.

Today—pick out your washday and your washday service—and have us call for your bundle.

VAL OF PARADISE

by Virginia S. Roe

ONE—Valantrie—rode to the trap by the Blind Trail Pass—knowing—He rode a great red horse—such as that dim tradition of the Border ascribed to the Black Rustler—its damming double. He covered his face with a bit of the padre's cassock—Ah what friends! What lovers, these two—the bandit and the priest!

That relentless net, drawing in, would catch him—and the rest was sure.

Those two in the moonlighted room—they might sleep at Paradise forever, secure in their honor and their fame! Her name and her father's would be forever clear—at the price of one bandit's life, one old priest's silence!

But she was her mother's daughter and never for one moment did she think of these things, save to make clearer the great light that was breaking. She shook her whole young body and tightened her nerves to action.

"Panita," she cried, "my riding skirt! Quick!"

To another woman she flung a word, "A horse—Lightning!"

But Lightning stood a little way apart, done and drooping. Every ounce there was in him he had given to his master in that last great ride.

"Then Red—" But Redcloud, too, was beyond her reach. There was nothing left in the corral of all the matchless races, nothing to serve her in her need.

Then did Val Hannon lose for a moment her faith and her sanity and all the good courage that had stood by her in these awful days.

"Come!" she screamed, "all gone! He rides the best horse in the range—and I have none! Death will catch him first!"

She flung her arms to the lighted skies and her face had lost its beauty. It was pinched and drawn, the lips curled from the teeth.

"Oh, Redstar! Redstar! If I just had you!"

And half unconscious of what she did, her very reason whirling, she cupped her hands and sent pealing out upon the silence the piercing whistle of the two notes, one rising, one falling, that had been wont to bring the racer to her in the old days. Far and bye it carried in the stillness, far out along the levels, like a clarion call for help.

And hark! What was that, faint and fine in the distance, that answered its echo? The ringing call of a horse—a running horse—that shook with speed and rhythm! The shrill high challenge of—may, it could not be the king! Yet the girl's heart stopped to listen.

Again she called—and again it came—that keen, high neighing!

"Lord God in Heaven!" said Val Hannon.

She held her breath. Along the plain there came a sound—a sound for which, all these weary months, she had waited with a faith that could not die—the long-roll of the great king's feet, like which there was none other!

For Redstar, the king, came leaping to Paradise. Came in strength and joy, like winds and waters flowing, leaving behind him the walled-in glade, the slipping miles, and five astonished watchers at the pass who had seen a riderless horse shoot by them like a rocket!

The girl at patio's edge leaned forward, straining her eyes to the lighted levels. Up along the slope, the king, a marvel of sight! Level as bolt, running like the wind, his sounding feet a blur beneath him, the great cloud of his mane flowing back upon his shoulders, his long tail streaming—Oh, the king—the king!—came home to Paradise!

Val Hannon flung herself upon him, clung to his high-arched neck, panting with the emotions of the hour which were almost too deep to bear.

And Redstar stretched his eager nose and smelled her over from head to foot, sniffed at her hair, nibbled her arm, her shoulder and her fluttering hands. He was home again after weary exile—and this was his beloved! His beloved by sight and the truer proof of scent, and he was beside himself with joy. The whinnying continued in his throat, he trumpeted and pushed and nudged the girl who clung against his breast.

And then Panita came running with a riding skirt—old Juana was dragging the saddle from Lightning's back.

"Quick!" panted Val, "a bridle, too!"

It had been long, long since the Redstar had borne either, but he steadied at the familiar process, stopped his excited whinnying.

And once again the Princes of Paradise flung out from his shadowed patio. Once again Val felt the mighty shoulders beneath her knees, the great mane blowing in her face! It had come true, that dim, instinctive prophecy that had haunted her wait with patience.

It had come true—and in the hour of her greatest need—the time of her dire distress. The king was under her at last! Redstar the mighty!

With the first tears welling to her aching eyes she leaned down and reached her caressing hands along his neck.

"Sweetheart," she sobbed, "Oh, sweetheart! You've got the thing I needed—that I have never asked you for—the fastest speed in the range! I ask you for it now! Run—Redstar!—run! For a man's life!"

And she shook the rein above him, loosened her whole young body in the saddle, slouched forward along his neck—and began the greatest ride that she would ever know.

Speed! Ah, yes—the great king had it. He had always had it—ever since those dim days when he had run on a smooth circle with many horses beside—behind—him—and with cheering crowds at the rail's edge that flowed past as he ran. He had it—but he had not been called upon to give it lately—not since those long mysterious rides down to the Border with the master in the saddle. Not since those great days when he had been wont to wait in some thick—at some town's border for the rush—the leap—and the getaway—when he lay down to earth and left behind the rancher despoiled—the posse—and the sheriff!

He had it—and he gave it now, in joy and gladness. Val Hannon felt it spring to life in every working muscle, in the rising hum of the drumming feet, in the stinging of the keen wind that was beginning to flail her cheeks. For the Redstar lay down to earth once more—and ran—for a man's life.

But where in his circle was Velantrie. Had he left Refugio yet? Others must be nearer the pass than she. Could she cover the greater distance? Only Redstar could answer that—and her heart leaped as she listened to the note of his speed constantly rising.

Far off to her left she saw dim shapes—and they were riding in the same direction—all were going toward the ambush pass!

And up from Refugio, in the southern center of the mighty amphitheater, Velantrie must be riding on the comet. At last, after all these years, The Comet and The Meteor were thundering down the land toward a common goal! Was there anything in all the range that could come near them in their pride and their endurance and their wondrous speed? Nothing—save and except that ungainly raw-boned horse mulling this way and that in the narrowing net, giving its best to no avail but averting the hand of destiny as long as possible. Tedy rode at the raw-bone's tail and comedy as well, for the Black Princess, swift and excited, clung to her thief's side and would not be beaten back!

The net drew in. It had been a wide net, indeed, and though good horses made it up, yet it had taken toll of them. The silver Dollar under that grim and quiet rider, Boyce Clendenning, was dark with pouring sweat. Three miles north the beautiful Silskin ran with open mouth—but ran still strongly—while a claybank and a Pinto pinto at widely divergent points kept inside the lessening circle.

And in the center, leaving all comers on the fringes, Val Hannon on Redstar swept toward the pass in the center, the Comet closed in to parallel her, all unconsciously. This was to be the last ride the last great fling of Velantrie of the Border—of Don Quixote Velantrie, the sometime reckless robber of the rich, the champion of the poor.

As he rode he thought of many things—and these thoughts were sweet with comfort. He had broken that oath, made on his father's body, and he was traitor to his given word. But love had made him traitor—and who in this world so good a lover as that grand old man had been?

When they met, as Velantrie devoutly hoped they would, it would be clean hands they struck together and he could carry a richer gift to show the king than the revenge he had sought so long—the holy gift of sacrifice.

At the pass three more men had joined the ambuscade—men from the Flying Y.

The net closed in along the cliffs—from north—from south. To the two riders sweeping eastward in the center, the wall of the cliffs the long dark arm of that ghastly galloway tree, that Crag Oak, stood grotesquely against the moon! The girl's heart ached in her breast and she touched the stallion's neck. It was scarcely damp.

She became conscious of a rider on her right, going straight toward the pass. She strained her eyes and her ears. From behind she could hear the long-roll of running horses—drawing in—drawing in!

Was it Velantrie? The horse beneath him seemed vaguely familiar, though it was so far away! There was something familiar in the way it stretched along the plain, in the mighty streaming of its tail upon the wind. Where had she seen this sight before? From the mesa Grande that the unknown horseman at her hand had risen in his stirrups to wave his hat to her!

Nearer she leaned to the Redstar's neck—called in his ear with a panning cry—and the note of his running rose again! But that other—it, too, seemed gaining in speed! What had Velantrie said once? Within two seconds of the world's record! The two fastest horses in the southwest neck and neck across the plain in a monstrous race with Death—and there was no audience to see!

The saw-tooth top of the cliff was stark against the sky. The black gut of the pass loomed out, a narrow streak in the face of the wall.

She could see the great horse at her right drawing in toward her, narrowing the distance between! Oh, why did not its rider look at her! Could he not see that it was a woman who rode The Comet's rival?

But Velantrie did not turn. He was thinking his last sweet thoughts—bidding her farewell in the last few moments that he could call his own—for there were riders showing now on every hand.

supported in their opinion by the district attorney's office, regard the section as discriminative because it provides that drivers of busses owned privately or by transportation companies need be only 18 years old.

Not only is the measure felt to be discriminative, but it is also regarded as missing its probably intended mark of safeguarding school children carried in school busses, because the school children can and many, in fact, are transported in privately-owned motor busses.

Thus, it is pointed out, a situation is created whereby a transportation company can carry pupils in a bus operated by a driver of 18, while the school district must hire a driver of 21. In the Fullerton and Santa Ana districts are furnished two illustrations. Some Fullerton high school students ride in school busses, some on the Pacific Electric and some on public motor stages. Santa Ana high school operates no busses and many of its students are transported on public stages, which are not bound by the law designed to protect the school children.

Suggests Court Test.

The district attorney's office has taken the stand, as explained by Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin, that the section is discriminative and not in compliance with Article 1, Section 2 of the constitution, which provides that "all laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation."

Before formally advising the school districts in the matter, however, the district attorney's office referred the question to Attorney General U. S. Webb, who, in his reply, "hesitated to advise that the law was unconstitutional" because of his opinion that the legislature enacting the law was justified in the apparent assumption that a great majority of busses engaged in transporting children to school are operated by school districts. The attorney general, however, suggested that a court test would be necessary to establish the constitutionality of the measure.

The suggestion that adult drivers employed by school districts be used for gardening or janitor work when not driving is regarded as impracticable because of the difficulty in finding an individual who would be efficient in both capacities.

SAILOR BOLD HAS NOTHING ON LUDWIG

Ana youth's first wheel came from the shop which he ran for six years.

"When I learned of the city's plan to open this park I made application at once, for I felt that the work would exactly suit me," Ludwig said.

By which it will be seen that like it and I believe it is a great asset to Santa Ana. We try to make it so pleasant here that travelers seeking a place to locate will remember the park and its accommodations, even though they may go elsewhere.

"Often that memory will bring them back and they will settle here permanently."

By which it will be seen that Ludwig is a substantial Santa Ana booster. Indeed, he will tell you with glee and with understandable pride that he has been instrumental in causing many a substantial citizen to locate here, and among other proofs of their being substantial citizens he will cite a $40,000 property deal that was consummated recently through his influence and after the buyer in the case had decided to shake the dust of the city from his automobile tires.

But that buyer reckoned with his host—the custodian of the city's auto park. The latter had a trick or two still up his sleeve, and one of them was a business deal so attractive that other towns in the Southwest were given a hasty "double O." A speedy return to Santa Ana's conveniences, as represented by her auto park, was effected, the business opportunity presented, the $40,000 property offered for inspection, approved of and bought. Thus another satisfied Santa Ana, by adoption, was turned loose to summon his friends and relatives from the East to join him in the "garden spot of the world," where clean, sanitary and comfortable cottages in an attractive camp ground may be obtained at a dollar per unit, a person has a chance to look around and see exactly what's what.

And, if what's what is not recognizable at first glance, Ludwig gives the hint that a second glance might be advisable.

CLUB TRACK STARS SPEED TO CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Invasion of Chicago by contenders for National A. U. honors in track and field athletics is under way today.

While most of those arriving were unattached "dark horses" the big teams from both coasts were starting their long trips, planning to reach Chicago not later than Wednesday.

The junior and senior track and field championships, under supervision of the Illinois Athletic club, will be held Thursday and Friday at the Huntington Beach arena, the blonde middleweight is in vigorous training for his set to at Jack Doyle's new Vernon arena tomorrow night. It is quite a mark of respect for the "Kid's" ability to get a place on the show that will open the house, Mexico will meet Jack "Midnight" Edmundson in the fifth bout.

Joe Benjamin hid himself away from Jack Dempsey's camp at Saratoga Springs to meet Phil Salvatore in the main dish of Doyle's opening night.

Johnny Adams, the San Bernardino, 125-pounder, also has been selected to grace the all-star bill. Adams will take on Frankie Tierney in the second bout of the evening.

Adams is a real comer but unless he is careful he is going to "burn" himself up. He is not yet nineteen years old but last week he had three fights. That's a couple too many.

Members of the local club are laying plans for their first Orange county open tournament, which probably will be held the first week of September.

SUNNY JIM, MEXICO IN H. B. MAIN EVENT

Sunny Jim, the San Francisco colored middleweight who has whipped every top-notch 155-pounder on the Pacific Coast except Bert Colima and Kid Mexico, will attempt to add the latter to his string of victims in the main event at the Huntington Beach Athletic club next Friday night.

Mexico, back in condition again, has turned the matchmaking for his club over to Jerry McCarthy and will devote his entire time to boxing. He meets Jack Edmundson at Vernon tomorrow night. In Sunny Jim he will face one of the toughest boys of the middleweight division.

Jack Iman, Santa Ana, faces Ernie Perrin, San Francisco, in the semi-windup.

The rest of the card follows:
Packy McMullen, vs. Sailor Ray Kolsey, 128 pounds.
Johnny McGraw, vs. Micky Rose, 135 pounds.
Pete Wagner, vs. Ernest Rickey, 108 pounds.
Ray Hillard, vs. Jack Pollard, 138 pounds.

Ringsider's Ring Ravings

Kid Mexico is a pretty versatile gent. Beside promoting the fist-cuff brawls at his Huntington Beach arena, the blonde middleweight is in vigorous training for his set to at Jack Doyle's new Vernon arena tomorrow night. It is quite a mark of respect for the "Kid's" ability to get a place on the show that will open the house, Mexico will meet Jack "Midnight" Edmundson in the fifth bout.

Joe Benjamin hid himself away from Jack Dempsey's camp at Saratoga Springs to meet Phil Salvatore in the main dish of Doyle's opening night.

Johnny Adams, the San Bernardino, 125-pounder, also has been selected to grace the all-star bill. Adams will take on Frankie Tierney in the second bout of the evening.

Adams is a real comer but unless he is careful he is going to "burn" himself up. He is not yet nineteen years old but last week he had three fights. That's a couple too many.

'DIGGELDY DAN' IN MENAGERIE CAPERS AGAIN

Thousands of children, and not a few grown-ups, who have gone adventuring with Edwin P. Norwood's "Diggeldy Dan," will rejoice in the announcement that a companion book, setting forth more of the droll doings of the now famous old clown, is shortly to appear in the bookshops.

The new book is called "In the Land of Diggeldy Dan," is gayly illustrated with colored drawings by A. Conway Peyton, while in it the author takes up the story of the circus animals exactly where he left off in "The Adventures of Diggeldy Dan."

The latest book, which will be available in Santa Ana and Orange county early next month, is more than passing interest at this time, in view of the fact that the author, a California newspaperman who, as chief publicity representative of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey's circus, will be in Santa Ana the first week in September.

Whirlwind Circulation. Norwood, born near Cucamonga and a beloved of newspapermen throughout the United States, received his early training under Editor Harbison of the San Bernardino Sun. He is said to be the highest-paid press agent in the world and his jovial disposition has won him thousands of friends. He is an old-time friend of Tom Lewis, of The Register staff.

A year ago Little, Brown & Company of Boston issued Norwood's first Diggeldy Dan book. This volume immediately established a record for first juvenile publications by reaching its fourth edition before Christmas. Since then "the funny old clown in the polka dot suit" has become almost as well known to the children of America as the circus itself. Windy days over the country have carried the slogan "Here's Dan, Dan, Diggeldy Dan," and now a toy is being brought out bearing the name of Diggeldy Dan.

Tells of Preparation. To an extent, the character of the Dan of the stories and the Nolke-Dan-Toy revolve around Jules Turnour, dean of the funny fellows of the "greatest show on earth." Norwood said, "When I first began writing The Adventures of Diggeldy Dan, I cast about for a model for all the queer things my clown had to do. Jules thus became my ideal story-book pantomime. He is among the most interesting and entertaining of men. But that is not surprising when one is told that he was literally born in a red wagon and has never left the profession. Jules comes of French parentage, was brought into the world on the Spanish side of the Pyrenees, and has been a clown for more than fifty years. His autobiography appeared in the Saturday Evening Post some twelve years ago, and is to be had at many libraries in book form."

As in his first book for children,

Barge Bringing In Load of Materials Company at Orange

Loaded with materials to be used in the plant of the California Wire company, at Orange, a barge is today making its way across the stretch of deep blue sea between Wilmington and Newport bay.

J. C. Hayden, of Santa Ana, manager of the proposed new Wilmington-Newport barge line, said that the barge was all loaded this morning and was ready to start for the Orange county harbor this morning.

We are still waiting for our franchise," said Hayden, "so that we can enter into the regular business of transportation. At the present time, the barge is making no regular trips and is not making a business of transportation. That is, all it can do is to take a job of hauling some load of goods for some one party from Wilmington to Newport."

Hayden said that today's trip of the barge into the harbor makes the fourth that has been made.

Newport harbor interests are viewing the entrance of the barge at each trip with no small amount of pride. Every time the barge comes into the harbor it is pointed out by harbor boosters.

"That's real commerce," they say. "That kind of thing is the kind of thing that can develop into big things."

HIT BY OAT LINE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 27.—John Selzer, of 317 Sixth street, was painfully injured when a "cut line" struck him in the face. The accident occurred while he was at work at the rig. He received severe cuts and bruises about the face and his nose was smashed.

Norwood's second tale uses the circus menagerie for its background. Every evening, at half-past twilight Diggeldy Dan and Monkey release all the animals. Following that come the most thrilling adventures imaginable. Kangaroo is whisked away on the White-White Horse, while the Pretty Lady in Sunset Land tumbles through the clouds to the deck of the strange ship, Kangaroo; and sails on it to the Treasure Island at the end of the moon-path.

In another part of the book the lovable, impetuous monkey of the first volume goes in search of the Windie Well and descends into the depths of it. A little later he visits Shadow—the Tailor in Shadowland and learns how all the shadows are made, mended, or made larger. Finally he has an experience that few humans have had—he finds out gives chase to his own shadow. Elsewhere in this jolly volume he reads of the great tug-of-war between the menagerie animals, of the visit of the choir of the crows to the circus, a chapter in which Giraffe and Monkey count the stars, while everywhere in evidence is the rollicking, twinkling-eyed Diggeldy Dan.

Lions' Attention! That convention panorama is worth framing. Bring it to Goff's.

LOCAL FEDERAL BUILDING NEED HELD CITED

If Santa Ana had a federal building, the division office of the collector of internal revenue, Southern California district, might now be in Santa Ana instead of in Long Beach.

This opinion was voiced today by A. B. Pilch, internal revenue deputy, well known here as the man who handled income reports the past year.

Pilch is connected with the division office at Long Beach. He is not keeping regular hours at his office in the Santa Ana city hall. Part of his time is spent at Whittier and other cities in the district. During August he was at the Santa Ana office about eight days.

"My time here," he said today, "is mostly by appointment. Our work covers the wide field of internal revenue, which includes not only income taxes, but also taxes from 'moving picture houses, pool rooms, stamps and many other sources. Anyone who desires to make an inquiry of me or an appointment with me can direct a letter in care of the Santa Ana city hall."

Pilch said that Long Beach has furnished the government with a division office suite in the city hall free of charge.

"Our deputies are working out of this office," said Pilch. "The office is headquarters for the division chief."

Sentences Speeder To Church Services

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—Charged with criminal negligence, after striking a woman with his automobile, Thomas Carter was placed on probation for five years, ordered to dispose of his car and not to drive one until further notice, and instructed to live with his mother and attend church regularly. During his period of probation, he must report fortnightly to the authorities.

Mint Robber Suspect Bluffs With Fake Gun

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—After he held officers in a cafe with a brass ornament concealed in his coat pocket so it resembled a pistol, James Cunningham, 28, suspected as one of the $200,000 Denver mint bandits, was arrested here. Cunningham was given a cigarette and drew his "pistol" hand from his pocket to light a match. Detectives sprang upon him. Search showed the "pistol" was a small "Chinese god" made of brass.

The finest and noblest ground on which people can live is truth; the real with the real; a ground on which nothing is assumed.

U. S. ARMY PEACE SERVICE

In the United States more than in any other country the military forces are made of practical use in time of peace as well as an effective agency for protection in time of war. This is not a newly adopted policy; it has been our policy from the beginning.

It may not be commonly known but it is a fact, as recently pointed out by Secretary of War Weeks, that the United States army had charge of construction of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal, the Erie canal, and, in most recent times, the Panama canal. The first two were entirely peace enterprises. Although the Panama canal was constructed in part as a military undertaking in order to facilitate passage of battleships from coast to coast, yet a greater purpose was the shortening of the route for merchant vessels.

Our war department took the lead in construction and operation of telegraph lines as it has taken the lead in construction and operation of systems of radio communication. Although these activities were essential to the military service they have been rendered of value to the commercial and social needs of the country.

The war department has had charge of improvement of rivers and harbors, ostensibly as a military undertaking, but in reality for promotion of transportation. In many other particulars the war department has served the country in time of peace. It has a standing system of regulations under which in case of any great calamity such as earthquake, flood or disastrous fire, all of the personnel and material in the affected district shall be immediately devoted to relief of suffering. On numerous occasions the value of this service has been illustrated and relief has been afforded when it could not have been otherwise.

Through its health service the war department cleared Havana of yellow fever which had ravaged it for 150 years, and redeemed the people of Porto Rico from the hookworm plague. The Panama canal zone was transformed from a zone of disease to a health resort.

Following the great war, in which our chemical warfare service had its chief development, the war department turned its attention to protection of miners and has produced the only substance suitable for their protection against the deadly carbon monoxide.

The weather bureau was created and developed by the signal corps which still co-operates with that bureau. The air service is co-operating with the agricultural department in extermination of the boll weevil, the experiments in spraying fruit trees from the air, and in warfare against other agricultural pests. The air service aids in protection of forests from fire and has recently rendered valuable service in sowing tree seeds over large areas now barren, which work could not be undertaken in any other way without months of tedious work and huge expense.

The war department has in time of peace turned over to the bureau of public roads large quantities of tools, vehicles, and supplies for road construction and improvements; has aided in establishment of high standards in breeding both riding and draft horses, and has led the way in the development of the most practical types of tractors for heavy duty over open ground as well as on roads.

In other countries military forces render service to their peoples in time of peace in some of the particulars mentioned above, but in no country is the army rendered of use in so many ways as in the United States.

they should be carried to the courts—and if the courts are inadequate in any community, the zeal of the righteous citizens should be applied to strengthening them for their task. When offenses are not amenable to official punishment, the floggers themselves must be guilty of venting personal grudges or mass prejudices contrary to the American tradition of tolerance and fair play.

Flogging, at best, is uncivilized and unworthy of Americans. It has been officially abandoned all over the country. If any legitimate use can be imagined for the practice, it would be to flog the volunteer floggers.

"The prohibition law must be enforced, not because it is prohibition but because it is the law."

Congressional Ambitions

San Bernardino Sun.

It's the time for political possibilities to be "mentioned." A lot of them will not get beyond the point of being mentioned, but it's pleasant. We know, because we have been mentioned ourselves in the Riverside Enterprise, just like this:

Political straws generally point the way the wind blows. There are numerous indications that there will be a candidate for Congress to run against Congressman Phil Swing, if not several. San Diego fluked three years ago and failed to get a candidate on the ticket. Two years ago there was no opposition to Congressman Swing by mutual consent. As a result of that fact the Congressman threw himself into another campaign and developed some antagonisms that will not die. They will certainly result in at least one candidate from San Diego. The most prominent Republicans of that county who have been mentioned are Senator Ed Sample and Colonel Ed Fletcher, both politicians of prominence. Mentioned in addition to Congressman Swing have been R. C. Harbison, Lyman King, S. C. Evans and Chester M. Kline. Which is reprinted in the Redlands Facts, but Senator King starts to shorten the list immediately, and adds this:

Please just eliminate one name from the list of those who may enter the lists against Congressman Swing, that of Lyman M. King. There might possibly arise such a situation as would make one of the men mentioned a candidate, but Mr. King has no idea of entering into a contest with Mr. Swing. And we believe we could name others in the list who feel the same way.

Well, the editor of The Sun will not permit Senator King to outdo him, so we decree that the name of Harbison be likewise eliminated from the list of possible contenders against Congressman Swing. Not only so, but we are for Swing for re-nomination and re-election in 1924, and we rather suspect we shall favor continuing him in Congress so long as the district is made up of the counties which now constitute it. We do not know what may be Chester Kline's plans, but we'll stake a small wager that former Senator S. C. Evans has not the slightest notion of seeking the Washington assignment, and that if he really followed his own preferences, he would ask the people of that Senatorial district to send him back to Sacramento. But Riverside may insist on his continuing in the office of Mayor.

It seems to us it would be unwise even for San Diego to put up a candidate against Congressman Swing in this district under present conditions. Just when the reappointment will come that will slice up the Eleventh district, we do not know. It may come out of the Congress that meets in Washington in December. It may be held off until after the 1930 census, although that is unfair to California and some of the other growing states. When the reappointment is made, however, we are practically certain that San Bernardino county will be placed in another district and with other counties to the north. Possibly Riverside county will go with us, but that is less likely. Until that shift is made, Phil Swing can count on a big vote in San Bernardino county against any other candidate.

Co-operation Given Reclamation

Pasadena Star-News.

The Reclamation Bureau of the Federal Government is adopting more generous measures toward settlers on reclaimed lands. There has been lack of co-operation between the federal officials and settlers. This new policy should be conducive to betterment of conditions all around.

For one thing the Reclamation Bureau is to encourage the subdividing of large holdings into small farms, where such proceeding would tend toward better farming. This is commendable. There should be encouragement of small farms and intensive methods of farming.

The development of reclaimed lands is a matter of concern to the whole country. It means productive riches. This producing brings much added wealth into the community and distributes it generally.

CAN YOU SPRAIN YOUR SPINE?

The claim agent or adjuster of damages of a railroad will tell you that he doesn't know much about sprained spines, but that he knows how to cure them.

And what is his cure? He states that by awarding damages to the injured person the cure is instantaneous and complete.

Now, what about this? Well, he may be right in some cases as malingerers are found everywhere, but as a matter of fact you can sprain your spine.

Why? Simply because the spine is made up of a number of joints exactly like other joints.

As you know, the spinal bones are piled one on top of the other with a cushion between each one and the one above it. This softens the jar in walking, running, or falling on the feet from a height. Then each separate bone is attached to the next one by ligaments, and other ligaments run up the front and back of the whole column.

Notwithstanding all this protection, it is possible to stretch the ligaments slightly, and so the surrounding muscles which are attached to the bones to hold us erect and bend us in various directions, also get stretched a bit.

Sometimes this stretching actually becomes a tearing as in a true sprain, and there is a partial paralysis for a time.

After this clears up the muscles still remain sore on movement just as in any other sprain. And the treatment?

Just the same as any sprain. You remember in the case of the sprained ankle you gave it absolute rest. The same applies to the spine and so in severe cases the spine is put in a plaster of paris corset to prevent movement.

So if you have received a severe shaking up in any manner, and the back pains you, simply rest it until the pain disappears or you may always have a weak back.

About Time to Try a New Remedy

The Spirit of Adventure

San Francisco Journal

The spirit of adventure is an endowment most valuable to the human race. It leads mankind ever forward to make new attempts at tasks hitherto unaccomplished and thus carries the standard forward. This spirit is not deterred by the fact that danger is encountered. A reasonable amount of danger adds zest to the undertaking, and if the ends realized justify the means the adventurer feels well repaid for his risk. The knowledge that even fatality may be involved in the attempt does not greatly deter the effort. Without a spirit of this kind to spur men on the high peaks of achievement would never be scaled. The science of aviation would not have been born for lack of volunteers to make the attempt.

Adventure runs along with youth. As people grow older they get more cautious and no longer care to take the risks which before they courted. The man who risks his life needlessly is under a stimulus of one kind or another which does not stop to consider the possible consequences. Sometimes this is worthy and sometimes it is not. The essence of heroism is to undertake a danger for the sake of rescuing another from peril. That has ever been the theme of romance and story. But the danger braved must be not only real but worthy of the object.

The enthusiasm for taking desperate chances is not a thing to be too much encouraged, however stimulating it may be to accomplishment. It lies at the root of some of the greatest evils in the world. Gambling and speculation are familiar examples. Racing, speed-burning and air stunts are other cases where the results accomplished do not justify the risk involved. Even less are those diversions to be approved which endanger, not only the voluntary participants, but also the innocent bystanders who are in no respect partners in the enterprise. When disaster overtakes foolhardy adventure, having no adequate benefit in prospect, the world is left with the consolation that the number of fools is diminished. Scarcely anything can be said in defense of that class of irresponsibles that deliberately chooses to endanger others without their consent. Speed maniacs belong to this class. Racing an automobile at dangerous speed down upon a street or highway with no other purpose than to make it go is the most familiar example of this. No amount of regret indulged in afterward can diminish resulting accidents.

Time to Smile

OBEYING ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mabel, the sweet girl graduate, carefully removed the mascara from her lashes and placed it in a small pasteboard box. She washed the rouge from her lips and cheeks and chin and put the wash-water into a small bottle which she corked. Then she took a shoe horn and scraped every particle of talcum from the rest of her face, neck and shoulders, wrapped it in a piece of tissue and put it in with the mascara. She was preserving her school-day complexion.

SPEAKING OF DYNAMOS.

The idle spectators were chatting with two lawyers wrangled over some minor matters more or less remotely connected with the case on trial.

"Just look at the pep of that man Buzzby!" said one. He's a regular human dynamo."

"Sure is," murmured the other with a tingle of bitterness. "Everybody who comes into business contact with him gets heavily charged, all right."

BLESSINGS OF RELIGION.

An old darkey got up in meeting one night and said: "Bred-ders and sisters, you know an' I know dat I ain't been what I oughter been. I've robbed hen-roosts an' stole hogs, an' tol' lies, an' got drunk, an' slashed folks with my razor, an' shot craps an' cussed an' swore, but I thank de Lord dere's one thing I ain't nebbber done—I ain't nebbber lost mah religion!"—Sparks of Laughter.

Tom Sims Says

Nothing is as deadly as a mosquito. He murders sleep. Very few trains have been knocked off the track in the annual drive against them by autos.

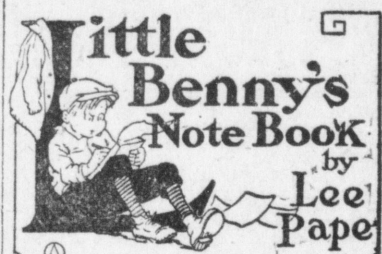

Weeds are keeping our lettuce from getting a head. Days are getting shorter, but the warm ones are not short enough. Wonder if you can throw rocks at a girl in knickerbockers? Bathing beaches have a large floating population.

These candidates throwing their hats into the Presidential ring may get them stepped on.

Wouldn't it be funny if everybody wasn't funny? In the summer a young girl's fancy lightly turns to fancy clothes. Our objection to work is there are so many other things to do. Song writers are not as ragged as their music.

Los Angeles man skated continuously forty hours, proving he must be a pretty good skater.

In Tokio, 900 army officers have been retired. It isn't enough. Degoutte still leads the French in the Ruhr. German business is suffering from De-goutte.

Us fellows was setting on Puds Simkin's frunt steps talking about different subjects, and Puds sed, Lets have a reselling contest, lets all ressel and see who can put the most fellows down.

Puds being the best resseller in the bunch on account of him waying the most and on account of it being hard to put him on his back because his back goes rite into the rest of him without stopping like other backs, and Sid Hunt sed, Aw no, I tell you wat lets do, lets have a contest seeing who can chin himself the most number of times.

Everybody knowing Sid can chin himself 9 times, being the record, and I sed, Aw, wat funs that? Lets see who can turn around and around the longest without getting dizzy.

Being my specialty, and Skinny Martin saying, No, I got a good idee, how about trying to see how many we can do the street in? Meaning how many jumps, wich Skinny always does it in the leest jumps on account of his legs, and Sam Cross sed, Aw, no, lets see who can bend over backwards the ferthest.

Him knowing he could without having a contest, the result of the argument being that everybody started to do their own thing, Puds grabbing himself by the legs and rolling around as if he thawt he was resselling with himself, and Sid chinning himself on the mail box, and me turning around and around like lightning and Sam Cross bending away over backwards with his hands agents the wall, and 2 men stopped going past and started to laff as if we looked as funny as anything.

Wich we properly did.

IN THE LONG AGO

From the Register Files
14 Years Ago Today

August 27, 1909.

October 8 an examination will be held for horticultural commissioner of this county. E. W. Camfield, R. K. Bishop, J. J. Schneider and J. W. Morrison will probably take the examination. On the State Board of Examiners are A. T. Garry, Los Angeles, E. J. Carnes, Sacramento, and E. B. Collier, Corona.

Horace McPhee, owner of the Santa Ana Blade, is starting a new weekly paper at Escondido.

C. C. Chapman, orange grower of Fullerton, says that orange growers of California should make efforts to improve the quality of their fruit if they expect good prices in the East.

Two brothers, Charles D. Forbes of El Toro and Augustin Forbes of Arlington were buried today together, from the Catholic church here. Charles died at El Toro of heart trouble while trying to catch a horse to drive to Arlington to see his brother who was reported to him by his brother-in-law, Ed Mendelson, as dying. The two men were members of a prominent pioneer family of Los Angeles.

Pursued by a runaway team, Miss Kathryn Irvine and Miss Louise Jerome guided their pony into a shed. The runaway team turned. Miss Irvine turned her pony into a shed. The runaways smashed into an adjoining shed.

Only two days ago, Miss Irvine and Miss Jerome were thrown out of a buggy.

FOR NEWLY WEDS

Many a man has worked himself into an early grave trying to think up ideas that would prove productive of subscriptions to newspapers.

Comes now, however, Sam Meyer, editor of The News, of Newport Beach, with a new wrinkle for which he is hereby awarded the prize.

The idea appears in this week's issue of The News, as follows: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party."

"This pithy declaration was made today by City Judge Byron Hall, who has dusted off the old Bible, brushed up his black alpaca coat and exhumed the oath to bind couples for life.

"For the Judge, starting from date, has decided to become the Marrying Squire of Newport Beach and every blushing girl and stalwart youth who wants to step it off on the swift highway of matrimony can do so at Newport at a special rate.

"In addition each couple wedded here by the judge will receive a year's subscription free to the great family journal, The Newport News. Or if the couple come down from Costa Mesa they will get a yearly subscription to The Costa Mesa Herald.

"The Judge claims he knows his business and that any knot he binds will be fast and hard. He announces the first pair will be made man and wife for nothing. His quarters in the Sharps block are being refurbished and made ready for the pilgrimage of lovers to his shrine."

SEES REAL DANGER

Arline is one of Santa Ana's youngest and most cherubic little girls.

She had just returned from a visit to grandma's where she had heard much discussion of things rusting that were allowed to get wet and not properly dried.

So when it came bath time, she informed mother that she already had been bathed by grandma.

"Why, if you bathe me again now," she said with serious thought of the consequences, "I am liable to rust."

LOST EARTHENWARE

There is a poet scattered somewhere around the room on North Main street occupied by the Farm Bureau, the University Extension service and the County Library. It seems that a cherished bit of pottery disappeared. Thereupon the poet wrote some verses which he dedicated to Miss Livingston, by whom the jar was chiefly cherished:

Fashioned with tenderness
Tired with care
Fired for usefulness
Dear earthenware.

Found in a notion store
A bargain I swear
Used for a year or more Brown earthenware.

Cherished so tenderly Smile if you dare—
Now it is vanished
Sweet earthenware.

Requiem and eulogy
In full praise we declare Green we remember thee
Lost earthenware.

On the Peak

By Berton Brakley

Once in a while to each mortal
There comes a glorious day,
When he can happily chortle,
"Trouble, get out of my way.

I'm full of ginger and vigor,
See how my wings are unfurled!
Am I the WORKS? I should snigger!

Sittin' on top of the world!"

Once in a while naught can touch
you,

You've got the number of fate;
Sorrow and sadness can't clutch
you,

Gee, but such moments are great!
When all the heavens seem tender
All of the flowers dew-pearled,
When you're a King in your splendor,

Sittin' on top of the world!

Once in a while you're a wonder,
Anyway, that's how you feel
You are a marvel, by thunder!
You are the star of life's reel.

Maybe your thrill is soon ended,
Then to the depths you are hurled,
But, while it lasts it is splendid,
Sittin' on top of the world!

Today's Birthdays

(August 27)

Charles G. Dawes, first director of the budget of the United States, born at Marietta, O., 58 years ago today.

A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast; but the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel.—Prov. 12:10.

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS

and his CUFFY BEAR ~

~ By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

Johnnie jumped forward, grabbed the trousers.

And tumbling backwards, pulled the youth with him

the first to feed him. But the boy who had talked with the canvasman soon settled this dispute. He said that he was going to be the first turn himself. And he did. Johnnie Green very kindly held his bag for him while he doled out peanuts to Cuffy Bear. Likewise Johnnie held the bags of all the other boys. On the whole he was quite satisfied—and not a bit hungry—when the last bag had been emptied, and blown up, and burst with a fiat.

"I bet I ain't 'traid of em'!" Johnnie presently heard the ring-leader boast to one of his friends, in front of the cage of striped hyenas. "They ain't no worse 'n dogs. See!" And before Johnnie could stop him he had reached into the cage and tweaked the tail of one of the brutes.

Johnnie jumped forward and grabbed a stout patch on a pair of trousers. He gave a mighty heave. But he tumbled, dragging the rash youth on top of him. And then such a barking and growling and howling burst upon their ears that every boy turned pale. Several men appeared, running. But Johnnie's visitors did not wait to make their acquaintance. They ducked under the canvas wall and vanished.

Johnnie wondered if that wasn't the first time a trouser patch had saved a human life.
